Malibu Civic Center WTP
2018 Annual Monitoring Report

WDR: R4-2015-0051
MRP: CI-10042

OVERVIEW

Malibu Civic Center Wastewater Treatment Plant (MCCWTP) construction progress was substantially complete by mid-April and startup efforts, including seeding the biological process with activated sludge from nearby WWTPs began shortly afterward. Phase 1 sewage was applied for the first time on April 27th. Although some elements of construction, punch list corrections, warranty resolutions, commissioning, and testing continued through the remainder of the year, and some are still ongoing into 2019, the WTP has operated continuously since the end of April, treating all Phase 1 sewage, with excellent results. All effluent produced by MCCWTP was disposed of on-site through percolation due to delays in completion of off-property reclaimed water distribution and disposal infrastructure.

A. Tabular and Graphical Summaries of Data

a. Influent and effluent quality and quantity is summarized in Attachment A.
b. Groundwater quality is summarized in the attached report by Rincon Consultants.
c. Surface water quality is summarized in the attached report by Rincon Consultants.
d. No water was injected this reporting period.

B. Compliance Record

a. There were no incidents on non-compliance this reporting period.

C. Results of Effluent, Groundwater, and Surface Monitoring

a. There were no changes in surface water quality due to injection and landscape irrigation because no injection or landscape irrigation occurred in this reporting period.
b. There was no change in groundwater flow pattern resulting from Injection because no injection occurred in this reporting period.

D. Description of Changes and Anticipated Changes

During startup and subsequent operation of the new WTP, various shortcomings were identified and associated improvements were undertaken. The most notable are:

Screened Solids Handling Difficulties

Preliminary Treatment includes a coarse screen, followed by a vortex grit removal device, followed by a 1 mm fine screen. The coarse screen removed so much of the larger fibrous material that the fine screen only received extremely fine material, so fine that although it was removed by the fine screen, it was impossible to wash and compact, since it simply squeezed through the perforations of the compactor when washwater and pressure were applied. After testing various methods, the most satisfactory resolution was to bypass the coarse screen and vortex grit device. Once all preliminary solids were applied to the fine screen, the additional bulk of larger and coarser fibrous material improved performance of the washer/compactor, resolving the original problem. IPC monitors solids capture closely to ensure adequate performance with the coarse screen and vortex grit device bypassed, and will return that equipment to service when process conditions dictate.

Inadequate Flow Equalization Pump Delivery Rate

The EQ Pumps were unable to deliver design flow to the Bioreactors due to excessive headloss in the discharge piping. Design flow was 130 gpm per Bioreactor Train, but the EQ pumps were only able to deliver 60 to 110 gpm per Bioreactor Train, depending on the level in the EQ Tank. A larger test pump was installed, including an electrical upgrade for higher horsepower requirement, and this resolved the flow deficit, achieving flows up to 180 gpm and available turndown to 25 gpm with the variable frequency drive. Due to the success of the test pump, all three Phase I EQ Pumps will be similarly converted. This work is currently in progress.

Cement Mortar Lined Steel (CML) Pipe Issues

CML pipe was used almost exclusively for above ground liquid transport at the WTP. This created immediate problems with the MBR and UV systems during startup when dislodged mortar was found in samples, having been liberated due to the addition of chemicals and associated variations in pH. Membranes and UV quartz sleeves cannot tolerate abrasion, so the offending CML pipe sections were scheduled for replacement with Schedule 80 PVC. Most of that work has been completed.

Excessively Hot Control Panels

A number of control panels, including those at both sewage pump stations, all three injection wells, and the WTP hydropneumatic system were found to be operating at much higher temperatures than recommended, over 130 deg F versus the 104 deg F maximum mandated by the project specifications, subjecting sensitive electronic control components of these critical facilities to premature failure. All responsible panel manufacturer's were directed to improving cooling to meet project standards at their own cost. Bluffs Park and Legacy Park sewage pump stations high-temperature concerns have been resolved by installation of air conditioners. Injection wells 1-3 are currently being addressed. Preliminary efforts have begun on the hydropneumatic system panels.

UV Unit Flow Control Issues

The UV System was originally piped in a way that made flwo measurement impossible because the outlet piping drained by gravity to the reclamed water Clearwell, and the individual UV Unit flow meters on the outlet piping could not be kept full, which is a requirement for this type of flow meter. In concert with the CML pipe replacement job mentioned previously, the outlet piping was elevated to ensure the UV Unit flow meters remained full at all times. Once this was completed, it became apparent that it was not possible to control flow adequately to each UV Unit by relying on the natural hydraulic split expected by the designer. In order to resolve this, IPC replaced the original OPEN / CLOSED motor operated inlet valves with motor operated analog flow control valves. It is now possible to specifically control flow to each UV Unit, so that flow is distributed evenly and not allowed to exceed the 0.1 MGD design threshold per UV Unit.

Ultrasonic Level Transmitter Failures

Ultrasonic level transmitters were widely used in the original plant design. Many of these meters performed erratically, causing significant control issues during startup. The most problematic six of them (Bioreactor 1 Post Anoxic Tank 1, Bioreactor 1 Post Anoxic Tank 2, Bioreactor 2 Post Anoxic Tank 1, Bioreactor 2 Post Anoxic Tank 2, Reclaimed Water Clearwell, and Membrane Thickener), were replaced with submersible pressure style transmitters. Since then, no erratic behavior or control issues have been experienced.

Off Spec Bypass

MBRs typically produce high-quality filtrate with low turbidity, on the order of 0.05 to 0.15 ntu. Occasionally MBR filtrate turbidity is elevated, for various reasons such as increased pore size immediately after a chemical clean, the inclusion of air bubbles, etc. These types of high turbidity events can usually be resolved by continued filtration or process adjustments, but this creates a paradox that in order to improve turbidity, filtration must be allowed to continue when turbidity is high, and this creates a significant risk of a turbidity violation. No provision was made for this in the original design, so modifications were undertaken to install al high turbidity bypass system (off spec). When turbidity is off spec, the bypass is opened and remains open until back in spec. The off-spec filtrate is therefore directed to the headworks for retreatment, and no high turbidity filtrate is allowed to proceed downstream to the UV system, where high turbidity could present difficulties with disinfection.

Consistently Low UVT

The Trojan UV Fit system was certified to achieve adequate disinfection when operated as designed on feed water with UVT of 65% or higher. It has proven very difficult to reliably achieve 65% UVT in the UV feed water. Lower than expected sewage flow and load have been primary culprits in this regard. Aggravating factors have been delays in startup of the MBT (no sludge wasting capability), mandatory evacuation of Malibu in response to the Woodley fire which decreased flow even further for nearly a month, and two months of heavy rains immediately after the fire that forced us to put a second bioreactor in service in order to meet the hydraulic challenge of treating rainwater captured on site. Various operational and mechanical solutions have been implemented to improve UVT, with limited success. The most successful method has been the installation of a temporary Alum feed system. The second most successful method has been MLSS reduction once sludge wasting became available for the first time at the end of December.

Membrane BioThickener (MBT) Failure

The MBT failed catastrophically within the first few hours of operation after being commissioned and placed into service. The progressive cavity filtrate pumps ran dry and locked up. Subsequent redesign replaced the progressive cavity filtrate pumps with mag drive self-priming centrifugal pumps, as well as several other control and piping improvements. Since completion of those improvements, the MBT has performed successfully, but this was not until late December, exacerbating the low UVT issue.

Injection Well Piping

On initial attempts to start up the injection wells, they were found to have a similar problem as the one described earlier on the UV Units, in terms of discharge piping that could not be kept full so that the flow meter could function properly. Injection well 1 was repiped for a test, adding an inverted U downstream of the flow meter to keep the meter flooded when the backflush pump was running. The piping modification was a success and is being applied to the other injection wells.

E. List of Analytical Methods and QA/QC

A summary of the laboratories used, along with their ELAP certification numbers, expiration dates, and applicable Fields of Testing is shown on page XX. Additionally, all of the referenced ELAP certificates are attached. Analytical methods and QA/QC procedures are compiled with test reports, throughout the document.

F. Operator Certification

The following personnel are employed in the Operation and Maintannace of the WTP and associated faciliites:

NAME	GRADE	CERT NO.	POSITION
Ric Vardel	V	4467	Chief Plant Operator
Golan Kfir	III	41641	Operations Supervisor
Kyle Vardel	III	42661	Operations Supervisor

Carlos Alvarez	I	35031	Lead Operator
Julio Leal	I (OIT)	44542	Operator in Training
Juan Aguilar	I (OIT)	44061	Operator in Training
Mohammed Monghasem	I (OIT)	Pending	Utility Worker Pending OIT

G. Summarize Changes to OMM Plan

The OMM Plan is a living document that is being revised as necessary when changes occur. The list of modifications noted in Section D, above comprises typical examples. In such cases, OMM updates include changes to Operations & Maintenance Instructions, the Asset Management program (where applicable), as well as PLC and SCADA programs.

H. Groundwater Flow and Transport

Groundwater flow and transport is summarized in the attached Surface and Groundwater monitoring report by Rincon Consultants.

a. No injection into any major aquifer occurred in this reporting period.
b. The rate and path of flow of injected water cannot be estimated since no injection occurred in this reporting period.
c. Data used as parameters to calculate rates of groundwater flow (but not the volume of injected water, since there was no injection) reaching Santa Monica Bay, Malibu Creek, and Lagoonis is summarized in the attached Surface and Groundwater monitoring report by Rincon Consultants.

All analyses were conducted at a laboratory certified for such analyses by the California Department of Health Services, and in accordance with current United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) guideline procedures or as specified in this Monitoring Program. A copy of the ELAP certificate for Sierra Analytical and copies of the completed chain of custody forms are attached.

I certify under penalty of law that this document, including all attachments and supplemental information, were prepared under my direction or supervision in accordance with a system designed to assure that qualified personnel properly gathered and evaluated the information submitted. Based on my inquiry of the person or persons who manage the system, or those persons directly responsible for gathering the information, the information submitted is, to the best of my knowledge and belief, true, accurate, and complete. I am aware that there are significant penalties for submitting false information, including the possibility of a fine and imprisonment.

Executed on the 1st day of March, 2019, at Irvine, CA.

Sincerely,

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consisting of sampling services and like activities, accessories, analysis and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions expressed on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use accepted methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), EPA Watertown (TCLP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for the services rendered hereunder. Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the situation which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent requests for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material analyzed by PCL at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or been lawfully in PCL's) for all services rendered (or if otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL's reports and information provided hereto and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning testing, information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client (whether and their heirs, personally, agrees and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent companies from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the "Litigation") awarded and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Environmental of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent (expressly under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of in-house counsel expended in any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any Indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as provided provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other biological or toxicological wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for acid/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's acceptable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the tests the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit arrangement has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within forty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days shall be subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to agents, fees associated with such collection procedures or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent of, trustee, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party, including, but not limited to, any client representative or agent, reviews, relies, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not required to, or shall be used to, cause costs in connection with any part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other updating of the records of any borrower, the securing, execution, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is a must) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis(s) has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto, otherwise agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule in such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or defined services) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written Chain of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboards (SWAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided to PCL or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall apply the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and laboratories provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all costs, fees (including attorneys' fees) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, which is an proximate, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 2. injury, disease or death of persons, 3. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and/or 4. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity shall apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, civil suits caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent not expressly prohibited by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, and in no instance shall it, to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of pre-judgment interest), or any other expenses or cost incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any authorized person or contractor with this agreement to all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any subsection or amendments and interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab or field analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by or as applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedures or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not registered, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any security, any permits or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with governmental or quasi-governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to assess holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-2 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times (of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or sample issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are received for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the quote, schedule, and any additional or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories' (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be provided or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as are defined herein only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms constitute only if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound to these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature of composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and/or payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be kept in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or Client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the Agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to handle its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, litigations fees, liens and awards acting in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, including, but not limited to, death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. personal loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing claims, costs, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Furthermore, this indemnity shall specifically apply to clients claims, damages, whether of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy to which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or attorneys fees (including without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and cost pre or post judgment interest)), or any other expenses to client incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, dispute or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or the services provided under this agreement even if client or the preceding party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material supplied to PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or within prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by Client's authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any persons, or other securities to the holders of any security, the securing, assumption, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within the hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (turnaround is 4 hours) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written Chain of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and/or disposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has told to PCL that all services rendered are to otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning instrumentation, software programs or other techniques.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, the litigation, expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Illness, the loss or death of persons 2. claims of damages to, loss of, or use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, claims, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity is not specifically aimed at losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy to which the client might have under law or in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by the available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for consequential, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages, including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees, including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgement interest, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or biohazardous wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable prior schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of prompt payment credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with established credit accounts, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms of all be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except for subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for the use of or reliance on data, information or reports by client or PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client's agreements, warranties, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or will be used to relied upon, in connection with or as a basis for the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the securities of any person, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or compliance with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior modification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours or allow PCL to more holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 1-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (i.e. pH in 15 minutes) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been estated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocating for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additional amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing by client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL may, and has accepted orders for services (as defined below) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms or in modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written change of order (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by the herein terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of the contract or relied upon as acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For the purpose of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 Waters and Effluents, American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or conditions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client in or out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for such services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and signed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any statute now required by federal legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for an unauthorized disclosure of such data which such standard was observed. PCL reports and information prepared hereto, are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees, the obligations awarded and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, which is proximately caused or deemed to be caused by acts, omissions, willful misconduct or negligence of Client, its employees, agents, or representatives or any other person or entity for whom Client is responsible. Client's indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, settlement costs, fines and penalties arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any unidentified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client holds against PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted and/or applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) arising from (contract or other law, including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre and post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other person by litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide, and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, benzene or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analyses are completed is required for all new clients or with a history of nonpayment and for clients who have not been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law or by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to the agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested or shall be used to refute claims in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or determination of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, renegotiation, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Extended holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All client holding times, 5-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 8 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late receivers, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means those Terms and Conditions of sale, including the quote, schedule, and any additions or amendments to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order continues 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract, unless upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material(s) provided by Client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data within such standard. Unless otherwise PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys fees (including if self-represented) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, or illness, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property; and/or 3. litigation of every kind or nature. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, charges, actions of every kind and character arising out of, in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, of the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any existing which the client might otherwise have to PCL or the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In the event that PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Unbroken Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fair and just prejudgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other biological or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with established credit accounts, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additional agreements between which are attached to or a part hereof. "Client" means the individual or entity who or which requests laboratory services, including sampling services and his or its officers, partners, employees and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule in effect from time to time, as amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL reserves the right to accept orders for services (as defined below) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms constitute the entire agreement in writing which Client and PCL agree to the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written sheet of such to PCL or PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the client of PCL's obligations hereunder with the Client under the terms and conditions and Client agrees to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to the governing of the terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions contained on a Client's purchase order shall be deemed to become a part of the contract between Client and PCL unless agreed to in writing by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use such testing methodologies which are substantially consistent with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CLP standards (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made in a manner consistent with the recognized standards of best industry practice. PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or its owners to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the collected amounts for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and diligently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and other sample materials provided by/on behalf of Client at Client's request, and the results obtained by PCL therefrom, are considered confidential information (except for information in the public domain or information which PCL had already rightfully received or is otherwise in breach of this agreement). Subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data. Subject to Client's own provisions, PCL reports and information generated hereunder and the confidential data and results of client's activities hereunder shall be for the sole use of Client and PCL. Client shall not disclose PCL's reports to any third party by any means (including electronic transmission, hardcopy or other format) without PCL's prior written consent.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, demands, causes of action, costs and expenses (including, but not limited to, all court fees, fines, judgments, penalties and awards) arising in favor of Client or any third parties as a result of, and/or in any way occurring, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of this agreement and/or transactions between Client and PCL, including, but not limited to, any injury, death or harm of persons (e.g., Client's employees or agents), damage to, loss of, or use of property (e.g., Client's or third parties' property), and/or any other damages or losses. Client shall not be relieved from any liability arising from any negligent act or omission by PCL or its employees. Furthermore, Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from any and all claims, losses or damages arising out of or resulting from the performance of Client's hazardous materials, including, but not limited to, any injury, death or harm of persons (e.g., Client's or third parties' employees or agents), damage to, loss of, or use of property (e.g., Client's or third parties' property), and/or any other damages or losses. This duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall apply whether or not such claims, losses or damages are caused in part by the negligence of PCL, its employees, agents or subcontractors. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall not apply to the extent that such claims, losses or damages are caused by the sole negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall include, but not be limited to, all costs, attorneys' fees, expenses and liabilities incurred in any such claim or action, including, but not limited to, investigation costs, expert witness fees, any settlement amounts, and any costs or expenses incurred by PCL on account of any such claim or action. In any dispute between Client and PCL, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover its reasonable attorneys' fees, costs and expenses incurred in connection with such dispute. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall apply to any claims, losses or damages arising from any sampling activities performed by PCL or any third party on behalf of Client, or any failure to perform sampling activities, including, but not limited to, any claim that PCL or any third party improperly performed sampling activities. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall apply to any claims, losses or damages arising from any sampling activities performed by PCL or any third party on behalf of Client, or any failure to perform sampling activities, including, but not limited to, any claim that PCL or any third party improperly performed sampling activities. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall apply to any claims, losses or damages arising from any sampling activities performed by PCL or any third party on behalf of Client, or any failure to perform sampling activities, including, but not limited to, any claim that PCL or any third party improperly performed sampling activities.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by Client, it will be necessary for PCL to receive samples of materials which may contain hazardous substances, pollutants or contaminants, including asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria, or any other hazardous or toxic substances, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws. Any PCL personnel involved in handling any samples of hazardous substances shall be trained in accordance with applicable laws and regulations. Client shall inform PCL in writing of the presence of any hazardous substances in any samples submitted to PCL for analysis. Client shall identify and list all hazardous substances which may be contained in the samples submitted to PCL for analysis. Client shall provide PCL with sufficient information regarding the hazardous substances identified by Client so that PCL personnel can take adequate precautions to protect their health and safety. Client shall provide PCL with sufficient information regarding the hazardous substances identified by Client so that PCL personnel can take adequate precautions to protect their health and safety. Client shall provide PCL with sufficient information regarding the hazardous substances identified by Client so that PCL personnel can take adequate precautions to protect their health and safety. Client shall provide PCL with sufficient information regarding the hazardous substances identified by Client so that PCL personnel can take adequate precautions to protect their health and safety.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the order the services were rendered, or such other prices mutually and specifically agreed to in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or cash on delivery is required for all new clients, or until a history of payment and/or credit is established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, to applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the rate of the maximum rate permitted by law to date and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees as agreed upon between such collection proceedings or otherwise.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by a duly authorized representative of the client. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is relying on PCL's services only for its own purposes, and not for any agent or bailee, or for any other representative or agency for any other person or entity. No agent and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that such data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used to relied upon, by anyone or entity other than client. Client shall not sell, use, advertise, or distribute any reports, or any reference to PCL or any of its employees, or any reference to any of PCL's services, or any data, information or reports prepared by PCL, in connection with any effort to solicit or obtain financing from any bank, savings and loan association, or any other lender or its participating agent or representative, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush services are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times on any samples received or samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet its holding times without applying rush surcharge. All rush holding times will be subject to the discretion of the lab within 24 hours of the receipt of samples to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times: All analyses with holding times of 48 hours or less (for example, pH, residual chlorine, dissolved oxygen, sulfite, and sample receipt for certain analyses) must be delivered and received at the laboratory within 24 hours of sample collection. Failure to meet these short holding times may result in the analyses being performed but the results will be flagged as exceeding the holding time. Rush requests for short holding time analyses may not be accepted. Clients are responsible for ensuring that samples are delivered to the laboratory within the required timeframe. Weekend and holiday deliveries may require prior arrangement and additional charges. Please contact the laboratory in advance to confirm availability and to discuss any special requirements for short holding time samples.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only and may incur long term storage charges or an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the retention period unless otherwise requested.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been listed on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allowed for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling may be considered an additional fee.

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the given schedules, and any additions or amendments as established and agreed to in writing. "Client" means the person or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and has the legal, contractual, actual and representative "Power to Engage" power that Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) considers prior schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor to perform the all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written Point of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes a, an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and C. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its agents of consulting services constitutes the client's explicit assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions expressed on a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of this contract, except upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are as appropriate commonly with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Watershed (TLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liabilities of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample information provided by or on behalf of Client shall not be released or disclosed by PCL to any 3rd party except in compliance (unless such information is given by reference to the public or is the public domain) or Client has agreed to pay PCL for all services rendered up to the effective date of the agreement. Upon Client's written request, PCL shall provide Client with a list of all 3rd parties to whom PCL has released Client's data. PCL reserves the right to charge Client its then current hourly rate for the time required by PCL to fulfill such request. PCL will not be responsible for any unauthorized release of Client data after such data has been released to Client or Client's designated representative.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates and assigns harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and expenses including attorneys' fees, of any nature whatsoever, known or unknown, anticipated or unanticipated, asserted or unasserted, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, part or in any way arising, incident to, resulting out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement or any modification thereof, including any claims or liabilities arising in part or in whole from the negligence of PCL, its employees, its agents, its subcontractors or any third party employed by PCL, but excluding liabilities, claims, damages, costs and expenses caused by the willful misconduct or gross negligence of PCL, its employees, its agents, its subcontractors or any third party employed by PCL. Client's duty to indemnify PCL under this section shall apply whether or not such claim is prosecuted to judgment. Client's duty to indemnify PCL under this section shall apply regardless of whether or not such claim is caused by the concurrent negligence, in whole or in part, of PCL and the other parties. Client's duty to indemnify PCL under this section shall not be limited by the amount of insurance coverage to be furnished by Client, or whether Client has furnished the insurance required under paragraph 14. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for consequential damages, including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption losses. Client's obligations, including without limitation, indemnification, shall survive until the statute of limitations with respect to any cause of action for personal injury or property damage against PCL or any of its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates or assigns has expired. Client's obligations under this section shall survive the termination of this agreement for any reason.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will properly mark and PCL will receive samples that are not analyzed due to asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, pesticides or any other hazardous or toxic chemicals, wastes and substances which are defined, designated or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (or other rules governing hazardous materials or chemicals) (collectively, any of the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that, upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical testing analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the order for services were rendered or, if no prices quoted, and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is subject to client's credit approval and/or on its account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law and by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or an amount not to exceed 1.5% per month on the unpaid balance. Payments are applied first to interest, then to principal, and any and all costs of collection, including attorneys' fees, whether in-house or agency, that are incurred with such collection procedures.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes and additions or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by others with proper authority. Acceptance of subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting in these matters solely for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity, for any other person or entity. Any agreed upon additional report that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client, its officers, employees, and agents that PCL's data, information and reports are not the property of client, and may not be used or relied upon in whole or in part by client or any other party, except in accordance with the provisions, and, specifically, subject to the limitations of any contract, proposal or other agreement between PCL and client. Client shall not publish, reproduce, or otherwise make available to any other person or entity any of PCL's data, information or reports, or any portion thereof, without the prior written consent of PCL. Client shall not use PCL's data, information or reports in any manner that is misleading, inaccurate, or inconsistent with the findings of PCL, and shall indemnify and hold PCL harmless from any claim, liability, cost or expense arising out of client's breach of this provision.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for those cases that are encountered because of delays between sampling or after time for laboratory evaluation and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be followed when the samples being received by PCL. Notice of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 48 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without working a work week. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before evaluation to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Coliform) is found must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weekend samples, delays in service are subject to additional rush fees and/or the shortest holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of our fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for (1 to 3 months) (20) days after analysis is been completed. Sample shall age for longer periods if by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been listed on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or sample. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who or that requests laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his, its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or deliverables) only under the following Order of Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does and supersedes the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and condition and 2. our agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No boilerplate or additional terms and conditions contained on a client's purchase order shall be deemed to become a part of the contract, in the absence of evidence of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standard of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with those in the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CFR Watershed (CWA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples analyzed provided to the client at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence and not disclosed to any third party (except as required by law or legal process). PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data and information provided, except that PCL reports and information provided thereon and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports. Upon publication, Client will not alter any of PCL's data or information (including without limitation, software programs or other computations).

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees to and shall indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, costs, demands, causes of action, costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, related to, or in any way relating incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposition of client's hazardous materials, waste, or samples on behalf of Client by PCL. Client shall defend, indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its officers, directors, employees, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or gross misconduct of any consultant, contractor, employee, agent or other person or entity performing services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities shall not apply to any claim to which there is an express finding of fault by PCL in the final judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction. To the extent that any such indemnification is unenforceable, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by the insurance it is required to maintain or cause to be furnished by client with an insurance company or companies acceptable to PCL, in the amounts and with coverages as set forth in Section 11 below. In the event that PCL is found to be liable for a direct, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) or litigation expenses or costs (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, court costs, and costs of investigation), or any other expenses or cost incurred by Client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or the services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will require complete materials for analyses such as solubility, polymerization, hydrolysis or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are delivered, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL's policies or regulations (collectively, existing or hereafter amended or any combination or any official or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab services analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of execution or the date the services were rendered, which ever is later, and other charges as incurred. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. A current price schedule or other analysis is contracted is required for all new clients or upon a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are referred to an attorney or collection agency for enforcement, Client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees of agent, that may include court costs, collection procedure or litigation.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or additions to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and no clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be carried out in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or misuse or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or on any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to satisfy rules or professional or other agreement, nor understanding or dissemination of any securities, any persons or other recipients to the holders of any security, any existing agreement, covenant, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or from any party, group or class(es), and governmental agencies or departments.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received in unsatisfactory or otherwise not adequately preserved condition and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Lists of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before exception to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that client is to specify must be delivered (not sent) day in order to avoid short holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is to be reviewed daily. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allotted for each pick up or sample. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor to perform all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client (as) have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 1,4 Waterbound (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered (as is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for the inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all costs, fees (the judgment expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, prior to, any, occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i. injury, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, liquidation of, use of, or property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Unidentified Person, whether actual or alleged, of the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any patents which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and cost of pre-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as provided for under this agreement) even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions or samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab location analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations in which the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or clients a history of payment and/or credit acceptable has been established with PCL. For those clients with established credit accounts, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by at any applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents incurred with such collection procedure or litigation.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an authorized PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries! No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is creating services from PCL for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other party or person. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not presented, or shall not be used by or upon, in connection with or as part of any disclosure, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All other holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as pH, nitrite) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of the fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession, where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Waterboard (TSAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client is required to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees (the obligation, expressed and provided in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting in/and to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or implementation, transfer or disposal of client's sample(s) hereunder, or injury, damage or death of persons, loss of, damage to, or use of real or personal property and/or 3. for any and all of every kind or nature whatsoever. The foregoing indemnities shall apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available hold harmless coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits, business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any Indemnified Person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, pesticides or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (as other now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all potential analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations at the time the services were requested or with prices as stated and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or otherwise as may be required is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit acceptance has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law and any applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If invoices are not collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees calculated with authorization prior to the [illegible] attorney.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the [illegible] be effective only in writing and executed by an [illegible] and by clients authorized representative, verbal [illegible] subsequent orders for additional services may be [illegible] in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports [illegible] by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or party. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not transmitted, or will be used to refute loans in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or contract with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without advance notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to the samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All tests with holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab, within 72 hours before expiration to insure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less the sample is found must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar factors are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are to effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for 30 days (thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed). Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated in the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any amendments or agreements hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition in which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of that data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereon are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, or trade or programs of other manufacturers.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, civil litigation expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, or use or loss of use of property and or, 3. incompliances of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (or breach of contract) by any Indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be, to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees, including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre and post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as approved by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Material. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all put/pull analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or those a history of payment and/or credit account has not been established with PCL. For those clients with an outstanding credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees incurred against him associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports issued by PCL. Client is acquiring services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker for or any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or to be used or relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or connection with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays or shorter prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without incurring a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expectation to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (hold time is 48 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, weekends, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on a price schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed as a additional fee.

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services exclusively and only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written order or call-in by EDDT to PCL. Any such order constitutes Client's acceptance of the offer of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and/or agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its agents or consulting sites also constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any conflicting or additional terms and conditions contained in a client's purchase order shall be deemed to become a part of the contract only upon written acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including provision of equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standard of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies whether in regulatory compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CalEPA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or other criteria based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services, notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the conditions which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and signed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples or materials provided by Client or at Client's request and the results generated by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is already available to the public or in the public domain or Client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or (f) otherwise is (unless of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL's reports and information provided thereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client without disclosing to any third party any information concerning technical information, techniques, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, costs, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, litigation expenses and lawyers' attorney's fees in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way actually incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. In event of death of, personal injury to, or loss of, or loss of use of property to any of the foregoing Client, Client's employees, agents, subcontractors, or any other person or entity, whether or not employed by PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnification specifically applies to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Unidentified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights to which the Client may otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified parties, by law, contract, or under applicable law. Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of your personnel's time), or any other expenses of client incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified parties in connection with this agreement or an action provided under this agreement except client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive unidentified materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (as each may existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at Client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples at a cost in accord with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission on the date the services were rendered or such other mutually and then confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment prompt, orderly account has been established with PCL. For clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days (old, past or interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to these terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is creating services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not intended for or shall be used to entice, induce or encourage the purchase, sale, underwriting or distribution of any security, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded for cases of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All attempts will be made to meet holding times of 14 days or less; samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush charge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the testing can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or client issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of environmental the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies accepted in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Waterborne (USAF), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for such services. Client's execution of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the service, notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data which such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning methods of analysis, software programs or other instruments.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, relating to any way occurring incident to, arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement (collectively, "Claims") caused solely or jointly by the negligence or willful misconduct of Client, its employees or agents, or any third party (excluding PCL and its employees) under the control or supervision of Client. To the extent, however, that any Claims are caused by the joint negligence or willful misconduct of PCL and Client or Client's employees, Client's obligation to indemnify, defend and hold PCL harmless shall be limited to Client's proportionate share of such Claims, damages, actions or expenses. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions or expenses of any kind or character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or willful misconduct of any authorized Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to, and not limited to, which Client is obligated to provide herein to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent permitted under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be satisfied by available liability insurance coverage Client furnishes, or shall maintain, or is required to maintain, to the maximum limits permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees), court costs, and the cost of pre-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any performance pursuant to or in connection with this agreement or as expressly provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analytical purposes only. Any hazardous substances (including, but not limited to, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or designated as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will maintain all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of stored samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations on the day the services were rendered or such other mutually agreed upon terms as may be in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of actual analysis is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within sixty (60) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law or applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of these (60) days shall accrue interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law to one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees of agents, non-payment with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client's consulting services hereunder (if any) are solely for client's benefit, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not furnished, or shall be used by client, in connection with or in aid of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or dissemination of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or conclusions with agencies or industries, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and might be arrangeable in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded in cases of samples that are delivered on weekends or after hours or holidays without prior installation and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All other holding times (7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (turnaround 5-7 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his/her, its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL)'s standard price schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's explicit assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the Services in accordance with the normal standards of care/reliability in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CARB), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by/owned or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports. Client or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the "Litigation") asserted and awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, disease or death of persons or loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or a financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or to client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be kept in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain, or client has given PCL his or its express written consent to disclose such information. Client shall not disclose PCL reports and information provided hereunder to the general public and Client and Client Agents shall not be to third party beneficiaries of such reports. Any information, client will not disclose to any third party without prior consent of PCL, except as required by law.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, defends, indemnifies, and holds PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, costs or suits, and expenses including, but not limited to, amounts from the litigation or settlement, including attorneys' fees of CLIENT or PCL, directly or indirectly arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and any transportation, handling or disposal of client's samples, or client's failure to perform its obligations hereunder, whether based on negligence, breach of contract or otherwise, except to the extent such liabilities, losses or damages are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates or subcontractors in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing shall not apply to any liabilities, losses or damages which the client might suffer or incur as a result of PCL's performance of services hereunder. To the extent permitted by applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for any indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, regulatory expenses or other fines, including, without limitation, attorney's fees and costs, whether or not PCL was advised of the possibility of such damages) suffered or incurred by client or any third party in any way connected with PCL's performance of services hereunder or in connection with this agreement or any transaction contemplated under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide PCL with sufficient sample material for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substance as where are defined, determined or prohibited as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (collectively existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official interpretation of any of the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL is to be stored at client's request, shall remain the property of client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as directed by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition all samples received by PCL for any soil chemical analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of acceptance of the order for the services were rendered or work performed and later reinforced in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment can be established. Net terms have been established with PCL for client clients with an established credit account. The terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law and by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid principal. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees of agents, and associated with such collection, regardless of offset.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by those authorized to enter into contracts on behalf of their respective parties for said mutual benefit, either verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports that were or may be provided to client's employees, representatives, clients, agents, and users or others, or any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there is no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not to be relied upon by any other person or entity for any purpose whatsoever, without first obtaining the written consent of PCL. Client shall indemnify and hold PCL harmless from and against any and all claims, actions, suits, proceedings, costs, expenses, damages and liabilities, including reasonable attorneys' fees, arising out of, connected with, or resulting from any such unauthorized use, distribution or reliance by client or any third party.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded due to lack of sample, that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays, improper sample preservation and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any sampling activity by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All other holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 72 hours before we can be sure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times, of 48 hours or less (Fecals), it is found must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling times have been created on a five (5) hour window. Acceptable time for these allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments to which we agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including on sampling services and those persons, employees, affiliates and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule 24, such document may be amended or removed from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written field of verbal request to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under these terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or provision of consulting services shall take the Client's actions stated to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions expressed on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including all results of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the general standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or characteristics of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrices provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence; however such information generally available to the public or in the public domain or already known by PCL or otherwise in breach of this agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data when such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any reference to this testing, such information, or PCL employees or other information.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and does agree, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and assigns harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, litigation costs and attorneys fees and costs allowing in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, relating to, any way asserting, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or any quotations, purchase orders or proposals client has submitted, 1. Injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of use of, or loss of value of property and/or 3. the arrival, loss of every kind of character. This indemnification does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, client's responsibility specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or acts or omissions by any subcontracted Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and not limited to all rights that PCL has at law or in equity. PCL shall not be liable for any indirect, consequential, special, punitive or other damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other fees, including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and all of PCL's out-of-pocket expenses), or any other expenses incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of limited samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab performed analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or the date the services were rendered or with other mutually and then confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Following delivery of the analysis is completed to requested by all new clients to verify history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or opinions furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services here under for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party shall rely on any data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not required, or shall be used to obtain financing or refinancing of any transaction with any lender, or determine the validity of any lien, title, the securing, amortization, renewal, or extension of all or part from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times if at all when and for some of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (i.e. 15 days), samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours after generation to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less for certain analytes must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Longer storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long-term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed on a hourly fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (SWAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or components of the samples or results while based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (including litigation expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption), litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of consultation, the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is considered is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not represented or shall be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, placement, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced, if, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior modification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (<7 days), samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additional agreements between which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including or sampling services and its or its owners, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price schedule" means the then Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which shall incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No printed or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to override a part of the contract created upon acceptance of these terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for such services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal release PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public at the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client authorize disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, litigation Expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or manufacturing, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i.e. injury, disease or death of persons 2. Lawsuit, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of share, for. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the indemnified Persons have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waters and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or in cash and/or is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are net 30 days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall by used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities and periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded for some of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including or excluding services and/or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. An acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. An agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or utilization of consulting services constitutes the client's assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No printed or additional terms and conditions appearing on a client's document shall be deemed to modify any of the terms created upon acceptance of these terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 2A Watershed (CLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and actual out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and/or sample material provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is in the public domain or client has released PCL for all services rendered in connection to present or the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by federal or state law. PCL shall use the same standard of care in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information prepared hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose or any third party any information concerning proprietary information, software programs or other methodology.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and charges and expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees (the "Losses") incurred and awarded against or suffered by Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. It is client's duty to warn PCL of any hazardous, toxic, radioactive or other dangerous characteristics of samples or client's materials prior to PCL's performance of services. Client shall indemnify and hold PCL harmless from any and all claims, demands, causes of action, suits, damages, losses, liabilities, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorneys' fees, court costs and expert witness fees) arising out of or in connection with the negligence or misconduct of client, its employees, agents, subcontractors or any other person or entity for whom client is responsible (collectively, the "Client Indemnified Parties"), whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other indemnities, rights or remedies which the client might otherwise have at PCL and the Client Indemnified Parties shall not be liable under such indemnities unless client is given prompt written notice of any claim for which client will be responsible hereunder, and client will be supported by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, which insurance will be for the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for incidental, punitive, special, consequential or compensatory damages, including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, even if such damages, costs or other fees, including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of expert judgment attempts, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation relating to or involving PCL or any of its related parties in connection with this agreement, as a remedy provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, formalin or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (collectively, as existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asphalt bulk/wet analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the order the services were ordered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is due once all work analysis is completed if required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days shall be subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. Unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings by an attorney. The client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees as agreed for associated with such collection procedure or action.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by such authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, interpretation, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting as independent contractor for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, interpretation or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, interpretations and reports are not requested, or shall be used by the client or its contractor, solely as part of the exercise, use, underwriting, or distribution of any insurance, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or coordinating with a circle of individuals and governmental agencies or departments.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or other days or which are otherwise prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without incurring a rush charge. All other holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, weight tolerance delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of sampling services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (RWQB), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation, in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed electronic or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning services or information, software programs or other technologies.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, financial damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the obligation if agreement and hereby arising in favor of Client or any third party as result of, and to the any occurring incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or Manufacturer, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, disease or death of persons or loss of damage to, loss of or loss of use of property and/or 3. breaches (or of every kind of character). This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing costs, claims, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not be construed to include, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might have with respect to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with limits which shall be not a maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, exemplary, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and costs and expert witness fees), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operation(s) for work the services were rendered or with prices noted and terms confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon execution is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For clients (client) with an established credit account, the terms for payments of all invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If legal proceedings are initiated through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client agrees to pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Verbal or oral approved orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used to solicit sales to investors, and/or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or dissemination of any securities, bill, permits, or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, investment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with brokers, underwriters, governmental agencies or departments.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours (unless PCL is made holding times without penalty of such exchange). All short holding times, 1-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours. Some exceptions to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Pursuing 24 hours) must be delivered most same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, or weekend delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or site visit(s), to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for atleast thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services representing any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the consulting, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrix(ces) supplied by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is in the public domain or Client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiary of said reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, methods, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, (the judgment rendered and awards going in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL hereunder by any agent or representative, handling, [illegible] of Client's hazardous materials, [illegible] waste, [illegible] of services 2. loss of, damage to, injury to, or death of any person or property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or liabilities caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to future claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligent or wrongful conduct by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of this agreement or any renewal. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights which the Client might otherwise have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance arranged to be furnished by Client, which insurance shall be, to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses as follow: Each party to pay its own litigation attorney's fees, court costs, and pre and post judgment interest, or any other expenses to cover incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or noncombustible wastes and substances which are defined, designated or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and after upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all biological analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or as otherwise quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used to refer to, in connection with or as part of the prospectus, offering, or solicitation of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times if we are provided the date of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 4pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. For most holding times of 7 days, samples must arrive at the laboratory 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Chlorine, pH, Nitrite) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the prearranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to be or form a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client was tried to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided therein are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, theft of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material), wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all biological analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations at the date the services were rendered or such prices no longer and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection process by or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereinafter for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times may be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria 30 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any amendments or other terms to which we agree in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity to whom we provide laboratory services, including an existing customer and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms constitute a legal agreement in writing which governs and regulates the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written request of Client's (QQC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes Client's acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions stated herein. All agreements to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's explicit consent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional terms and conditions contained in a client's documentation will be deemed to become a part of this contract unless specifically agreed to in writing by PCL.

For purposes of this Agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including any provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services according with the normal standards of performance in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Watertown (USGS), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made in a manner consistent with the recognized standard of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL to officers, agents, employees or customers to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amounts for said services. Client's execution of a service order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the results obtained by PCL shall be confidential between PCL and client. Client consents and the results obtained by PCL shall be kept confidential between PCL and client. Client consents to the disclosure of the data and results obtained by PCL to any governmental agency or to any person ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction to receive such information. Client consents to the disclosure required by law or legal process but shall limit the scope thereof to data or work performed by PCL hereunder. Client agrees that PCL shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data, whether such disclosure is due to PCL's negligence or otherwise, unless such disclosure is due to PCL's willful misconduct. Client shall not disclose any information or data relating to PCL's methodologies, procedures or other confidential information of PCL to any third party without the prior written consent of PCL.

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees to, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent companies (collectively, "Indemnified Parties") harmless from and against any and all claims, demands, causes of action, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and court costs, that may be asserted against or suffered by any Indemnified Party as a result of, or in any way relating to, services arising out of, or in connection with the services and/or transportation of samples or data or client's breach of these terms and conditions or any other agreement between client and PCL, including, but not limited to, any claims, demands or causes of action asserted by any third party as a result of any alleged negligent act or omission of client or any Indemnified Party, whether or not client is joined as a party to such claim, demand or cause of action. Client's obligations under this section shall apply to the fullest extent permitted by law, including, but not limited to, indemnification of the Indemnified Parties for their own negligence, whether such negligence is the sole cause of any loss, damage or injury, or a contributing cause of any loss, damage or injury, but shall not apply to the extent that any loss, damage or injury is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or any of its employees. Further, client's indemnification obligations under this section shall not be limited by any limitation on the amount or type of damages, compensation or benefits payable by or for client or any of its subcontractors under workers' compensation acts, disability benefit acts or other employee benefit acts, and client's indemnification obligations under this section shall extend to claims occurring after this agreement is terminated as well as while it is in force. In the event any Indemnified Person is made a party to any judicial, administrative, arbitration or other proceeding which may be brought, or threatened to be brought, against client in connection with the services, client shall pay on demand all costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses that may be incurred by such Indemnified Person in connection with or upon such proceeding, whether or not such Indemnified Person is named as a party to such proceeding. All such costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses shall be paid as they are incurred and within thirty (30) days after such Indemnified Person delivers to client a written detailed and itemized statement of such costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses. Client's duty to indemnify Indemnified Persons under this section shall survive the expiration or termination of this agreement for a period equal to the applicable statute of limitations for actions based on any facts or conditions that occurred during the term of this agreement, even if claims are asserted after the statute of limitations has run.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete information for proposed work or activities, personal exposure, chemicals, bacteria or any other substance or circumstance known to client and which may be hazardous, toxic or dangerous to the health or safety of PCL employees, agents or subcontractors in the performance of PCL's services hereunder. Client acknowledges that PCL is relying on such information provided by client and that PCL cannot perform the services properly or safely unless client provides such information. Client agrees to indemnify and hold harmless PCL and its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent companies (collectively, "Indemnified Persons") from and against any and all claims, demands, causes of action, damages, losses, costs and expenses, including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and court costs, that may be asserted against or suffered by any Indemnified Person in connection with or arising out of client's failure to provide complete, accurate and adequate information regarding potential hazards associated with samples or work activities. Client agrees to hold harmless and indemnify Indemnified Persons in the manner described in the preceding paragraph for any claims, demands, causes of action, damages, losses, costs and expenses that may be asserted against or suffered by any Indemnified Person in connection with or arising out of PCL's performance of services in accordance with the then current Material Safety Data Sheet ("MSDS") or other information provided to PCL by client, to the extent that such claims, demands, causes of action, damages, losses, costs and expenses are caused in whole or in part by inaccurate information provided by client or by the failure of client to provide complete information regarding potential hazards associated with samples or work activities. Client's obligations under this section shall apply to the fullest extent permitted by law, including, but not limited to, indemnification of the Indemnified Persons for their own negligence, whether such negligence is the sole cause of any loss, damage or injury, or a contributing cause of any loss, damage or injury, but shall not apply to the extent that any loss, damage or injury is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or any of its employees. Further, client's indemnification obligations under this section shall not be limited by any limitation on the amount or type of damages, compensation or benefits payable by or for client or any of its subcontractors under workers' compensation acts, disability benefit acts or other employee benefit acts, and client's indemnification obligations under this section shall extend to claims occurring after this agreement is terminated as well as while it is in force. In the event any Indemnified Person is made a party to any judicial, administrative, arbitration or other proceeding which may be brought, or threatened to be brought, against client in connection with the services, client shall pay on demand all costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses that may be incurred by such Indemnified Person in connection with or upon such proceeding, whether or not such Indemnified Person is named as a party to such proceeding. All such costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses shall be paid as they are incurred and within thirty (30) days after such Indemnified Person delivers to client a written detailed and itemized statement of such costs, damages, attorneys' fees and other expenses. Client's duty to indemnify Indemnified Persons under this section shall survive the expiration or termination of this agreement for a period equal to the applicable statute of limitations for actions based on any facts or conditions that occurred during the term of this agreement, even if claims are asserted after the statute of limitations has run.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of performance (at the time the services were rendered) or with prices quoted and confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance as well as analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and the credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET cash within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, a finance charge of one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance is due on amounts not disputed through legal proceedings or by an attorney. The client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees as agreed, fair and justified with such collection procedure or action.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, additions or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client. Unless otherwise agreed to in writing, subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL does not accept responsibility or liability for any work, advice or data communicated or delivered by PCL to Client's existing or future lender for loan purposes, and will not appear or testify in any other capacity or study. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon data, information or reports. Client makes no warranty, and agrees that no data, information and reports will be delivered, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or in support of any purchase, sale, refinancing, or determination of value of any real property, including, but not limited to, any proposed or actual mortgage, deed of trust, or other transfer of any real property, or any mortgage loan, mortgage-backed security, or other financial instrument or investment. Client agrees that PCL is not a party to any transaction for which Client has engaged PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted by law, Client shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless PCL and the other Indemnified Persons from and against any and all claims, losses, liabilities, damages, costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees and court costs) arising out of or in connection with any use, reliance, or misrepresentation by Client or any third party of any data, information or reports prepared or collected by PCL in connection with Client's engagement of PCL, including, but not limited to, any claims, losses, liabilities, damages, costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees and court costs) arising out of or resulting from the negligence of PCL or any Indemnified Person in performing PCL's services under this agreement, even if such claims are based in whole or in part on the negligence of one or more Indemnified Persons.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times of client samples or aliquots of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and approval. Standard holding times and analysis conditions shall be strictly adhered to for samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client upon request. All analyses with holding times of 72 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL services holding without surcharge. Rush surcharge applies to holding times of 24 hours, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours to allow PCL to analyze the samples in time for the holding time. Holding times of 48 hours or more standard turn around time days in order to avoid rush surcharges. Holding times are met after hours, face delivery, freight company delays or severe issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods may be requested. Any arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or sampler. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract, regardless of PCL's acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of practice used in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 waterlaw and (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client will be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by the client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public, or in the public domain, or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the "Litigation Expenses") and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way connected, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation (including or disposal of client's hazardous materials), 1. injury, disease or death of persons and/or 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or use of/lack of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnification applies to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused in any way by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnification specifically applies to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (or breach of warranty) by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the indemnified Persons have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnification will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) whatsoever expenses or costs fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the value, post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other biological or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or designated as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL's policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of acceptance of the date the services were rendered unless prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit approval has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment are charged are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by at all by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days are subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate then allowed by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that unpaid/given orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is relying services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall not be used to rely upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, consideration, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contractors, with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any subsequent revision, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded for those of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on short days without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided by the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours of sampling. PCL strives to ship holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours. Please expedite to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (for example, 24 hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessarily delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Except for the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent/ disclosure of said data, where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as penalties provided under this agreement apply if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials") Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations at the time the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients who have established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by at any applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the Client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or should be used/relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to all samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (but not 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" shall mean these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments to the which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory analysis including or sampling services and hires. Its client, assistant, subject and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the Client Laboratories (PCL) standard price sheet as such document may be amended or removed from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing its services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions appearing in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or conditions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public at the public domain, or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unintelligent disclosure of said data. Absent client's written consent, PCL reports and information is prohibited shared and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its subsidiaries, officers, partners, agents, affiliates and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of client or any third parties as a result of and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. Injury, illness or death of person 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or theft of use of property and/or 3. Penalties, fees of every kind or character. This indemnity and hold harmless any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by said Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (Litigation Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current Sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all biological analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or client approval is required for all new clients and until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-3 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Orders & Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or retention of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms and or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are substantially compliant with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 24 Watershed (ESAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) & the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or deliverable based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order will (or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services (notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts).

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is publicly available to the public or is the public domain or Client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered or if otherwise in provision of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereunder is the exclusive property of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technology, software, programs or other modifications.

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, the Litigation's approved and awards acting in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way according, pertaining to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, provided that contractual handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, E. coli, invasive or death of personnel, loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and/or a transaction loss of every kind of character. The indemnity shall not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (not breach of contract) by any unidentified person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights to which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable for client for indirect, punitive, special, consequential or incidental damages (including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or any re-sort judgment interest), or any other expenses for costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as provided for under this agreement even if client or the possibility was

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of the terms of the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material supplied to PCL by client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples at accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for viral/all bacterial analysis. Client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or where a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice, to the fullest extent permitted by law or applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If any/all amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client must pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting on own behalf and not for the benefit, account and risk as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client expressly warrants and agrees that such data, information and reports are not represented or shall be used by or on behalf of, or in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with a principal contractor, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All client holding times are 7 days. Samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Bacteriology 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling visits will be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has request laboratory services, including in sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody ("COC") to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of sampling services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by the terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions contained in a client's documents shall be deemed to be part of this contract unless agreed upon in acceptance of the Terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession, where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), state and federal rules of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sampling or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, whether out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for allowing PCL of the same and all information received to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is in default or breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care as it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning testing methods, software programs or other innovations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, litigation costs incurred with respect thereto, arising out of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from any claim, liability or violation of client's knowledge under all federal, state or local laws or regulations, including, but not limited to, loss of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not apply to losses, claims, damages, or expenses arising out of or in connection with the negligent acts or breach of contract by any unidentified person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client otherwise may have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent not fully covered by insurance, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with insurance limits in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable for any indirect, punitive, special, or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption). Litigation Expenses or costs fees (including, without limitation, attorneys fees, court costs, and collection costs, pre-judgment interest), or any other expenses to which incurred by client or any third party in any dispute against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, batteries or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste, and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asphalt base metal analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The fee is subject to change at any time without notice. A minimum in advance of work analysis completed is required for all new clients until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For these clients, with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 (calendar basis) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to agents and established with such collection procedure or others.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective or binding only if executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished to PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be used or shall be used to induce action or inaction on the part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any product or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, establishment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or connection with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged or authorized. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to the samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours or prior PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All times holding times 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (typically 6 hours) should be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, weight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of our fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. The arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of such terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other technical data.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, litigation costs and all awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, illness or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnification applies to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of this agreement by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary, under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and (or pre or post judgment interest)), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person or connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analytes such as: asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other biological or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or prohibited as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all potential analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of acceptance of the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when Analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon statutory of payment and/or credit approval has been established (credit refused). The terms for payment of charges are NET (cash) within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by or allowed by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are referred to any legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection process or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms of all be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL or by clients authorized representative. Except as subsequent orders for additional services may be made or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is ordering services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or on any other representative or capacity for other persons or entities. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not to be used, or shall not be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any security, any private or other securities by the Client or any issuer, any security, investment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with any specific or indirect, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are expended because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours (4 days) PCL can meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 1-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before exposure to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (excluding hours) must be delivered (not sampled) in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weight samples, dumps or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for our pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be invoiced an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services, and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its location of requesting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No other any or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession [illegible] which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLRP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amounts for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Clients may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain or client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereby are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way relating in client to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (or failure of) of contractors by any interested person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the [illegible]. To the extent [illegible] applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, or to which client will be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses to pass incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or including PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all biological analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client will pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is due upon client's receipt of invoice and is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For clients only with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 days from invoice date. To the fullest extent permitted by law or as will be by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable court and attorney's fees and all costs associated with such collection proceedings.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by officials of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity, agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not republished or shall be used to relay upon, in connection with or as part of any advertising, solicitation or distribution of any securities, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and/or approval. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before exposition to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that require 24 hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays for similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and sells all services hereunder solely on the terms set forth in these General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written (hard or electronic (EDI)) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No ancillary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to constitute a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of performance in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is previously available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or if otherwise, in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by lawful legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided to clients are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other innovations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, litigation, investigation and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party, as a result of, and/or in any way resulting from/or in any way out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, trespass on, loss in use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions or causes of any kind or character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (if or breach of contract) by any indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any insurance which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available client insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and / or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person or connection with this agreement or as penalty provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of archived samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any soil bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or such prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit is established with PCL for those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. Unpaid amounts not collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees against fees associated with such collection proceedings or suits.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client in securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker or on any other representative capacity for any other person or entity, represents and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that all third party reliance on such data, information or reports is strictly prohibited. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or any portion of any securities, any pending or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and charge conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client of requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24-72 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria) 24 hours) must be delivered that same day to assist to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. These Terms does not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's consent to and to be governed by these terms and conditions. No client any or additional terms and condition expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of skill/knowledge in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (STAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or deliverable based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or to come, true with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results spawned by PCL that are held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered as to otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data without such standard care observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software procedures or other know-how.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, litigation expenses, and attorney arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, related in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or standard terms, handling or disposition of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of use of property and or 3. interference of any kind of civil right whatsoever. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (mitigation expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and the like or your judgement interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any or all chemical analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of execution of the order, the services were rendered or such prices as may be agreed upon in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or unless a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET 30DAYS within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, a finance charge of one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance, if unpaid amount is collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees incurred for such collection proceedings or action.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by duly authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be placed orally or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is engaging services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not requested, or shall not be used to refuse upon, in connection with or as part of any prospectus, sale, underwriting, or distributions of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed, prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab, within 24 hours before weekends to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, filtered) must be delivered next same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. Water hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the general standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CFR Watergaurd (FSAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose any third party any information concerning pricing information, software programs or other consultations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, suits and actions, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, (the "Litigation Expenses") and penalties arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incidental to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or misappropriation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials; 1. bodily injury or death of persons; 2. loss of, damage to, harm to, or loss of use of property and/or 3. contamination of every kind of client. For the purposes of this agreement, by way of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, will in no case be caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, client hereby also shall specifically agree to defend, indemnify, release all claims of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence, or breach of covenant by any Indemnified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client may have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent permitted under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which coverage shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses to whatever, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and out of pocket judgment interests, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, pesticide related chemicals, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any amendment or additional interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples or specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical purposes, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations for [illegible] the services were rendered or with prices negotiated and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance, when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH and not later than [illegible] days from date of invoice. In the future, unless prohibited by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of the [illegible] day period subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate authorized by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, then client shall pay reasonable court and attorney's fees, costs, and expenses associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective and binding only if executed by authorized representatives of PCL and by duly authorized representatives, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be oral or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

[illegible] have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is executing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or representative any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and client no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used or relied upon in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any portion or offer relating to the benefit of any person, the securing, investment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or operating with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged or allowed. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on normal days without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be followed prior to the samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without incurring a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours, prior exception to insure that the holding times can be met. Certain holding times of 48 hours or less shortly after sampling must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who/that requests laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to the provisions of these terms and conditions. No boilerplate or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial "congruity" with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available or the public or in the public domain or client has ruled to pay PCL for all services rendered as confirmation of breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiary of any report, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and associated expenses, including, but not limited to all court fees, time, litigation expenses and awards, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's samples or materials. It is hereby agreed that the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligent acts, breach of contract by or any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and not limit which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent not prohibited under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business, interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like or lost profits) whether or not any other provision or cause contained in this or any other party to any obligation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the Services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices otherwise later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or advance deposit is completed is required for all new clients or upon a change of payment and/or credit arrangement previously established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amounts unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability to parties other than client for any data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is issuing services hereunder for his own account, agent or as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or will be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any public or other reporting to the SEC or any person, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours (or allow PCL to assess holding times without applying a rush surcharge). All short holding (i.e. 7 days), samples must arrive at the lab within 24 to 48 hours depending on the analysis to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that require delivery must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Prearranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been quoted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up/sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes Client's acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and Client agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the Client's request to do so to be governed by these terms and conditions. No exhibit or additional terms and conditions expressed in a Client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sampling or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services (notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts).

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its obligations pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or Client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and third parties there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning methods of information, software, programs or other methodologies.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, amount from time to time required to and paid to any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials), injury, damage or death of persons, property, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property, and all financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to lawsuits, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any intermediate person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which it might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (whether expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre-and post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenols, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies, regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab potential analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance to client analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon a history of delinquent and/or erratic accounts has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all laws by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permissible by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by Client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client engaging services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity, it is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon data, information or reports. Client expressly releases, waives, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or shall be used to induce, or in connection with the extension of credit or the purchase, sale or participation in any securities, any corporate or other reporting or the preparation of any report by the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria) a hazard must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, weight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been instated on this fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his/her its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms or any or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where such exist. PCL utilizes analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (SWRCB), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assisting PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable price schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has ruled to pay PCL for all services rendered up to reference in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning testing information, methods employed or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the Litigation Expenses) asserted and awarded arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to any agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury to and/or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, and/or loss of use of property and/or 3. Litigation against every kind of character. This indemnification does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL and/or employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, claims of injury, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or alleged negligence of any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of the work under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights which the Indemnified Person(s) may have at PCL and the other Indemnified Person(s). To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that as indemnity satisfaction will be acquired by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (the Litigation Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like as well as prejudgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any Indemnified Person in connection with this agreement or the services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, batteries or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are declared, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules. PCL provides no representation nor warranty or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the Hazardous Materials. Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples at accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for external (or partial analysis) client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect on the date of execution of the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit acceptable has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are for 7 (Seven) calendar thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are invoiced through legal proceedings or by an attorney, client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agency fees, associated bills, court collection proceedings and costs.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be used or shall not be relied upon in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any consent or other reporting to the holder of any security, the securing, arrangement, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or instrumentality.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being submitted to PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 48 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All times holding times 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours. Please work with us to make that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, fecal) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional surcharges and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been quoted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client upon the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its agent or consulting services constitutes the client's express agreed to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care/standards of the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 CFR Part 136 (EMAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors or the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence. Such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain or client is not to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data when such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning various information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and incurred expenses including, but not limited to, all costs, fees, litigation & expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, or use of, or theft of use of property and or 3. economic loss of every kind of character. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent not expressly undertaken herein, client agrees that no indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be, to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, to the extent that PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation Expenses or other like damages, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, pesticide or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the sample(s) or services were rendered or such prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or other security is required for all new clients or upon a history of unpaid and/or stale accounts. Upon being established with PCL for those clients with a previously agreed credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (cash) within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month (18% annual). If invoice will be timely collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the nonprevailing party shall pay all costs and attorney's fees incurred with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications of amendments to the terms of this offer/agreement will not be valid by an officer of PCL unless by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be placed in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or used by client to relate in any connection with or as part of a purchase, sale, underwriting, or syndication of any securities, any participation or other reporting to the holders of any security, the obtaining, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Short analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush parameter time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded by virtue of samples that are delivered by customers or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours (4 days) PCL to meet holding times. Without applying a safety margin. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (testing 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late nights, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for a pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed as additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" refers to these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additional or amended terms which are accepted in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has received laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, or such document that is amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in rendering all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or delivery thereof) only upon the following Client's Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which makes reference specifically to the Terms. No modification of the Terms shall be valid unless in writing signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may obtain services by submitting a written mail or electronic (EDI) to PCL. Any such additional terms shall be exclusive to the extent of PCL's offer to perform work with the Client under the terms and conditions and PCL's agreement to be bound by those terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of sampling services shall constitute the Client's express consent to be governed by these Terms and conditions. No printed or other terms and conditions appearing on a Client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract resulting upon acceptance of the Terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "perform" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Government (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client to PCL and the results obtained in the performance of this agreement shall be considered confidential and proprietary information of client and shall not be disclosed to the public or to any individual or entity other than client without the prior written consent of client, except as required by law or legal process. PCL shall not use the data provided by the client or the results obtained in the performance of this agreement for any purpose not contemplated by this agreement without the prior written consent of client. PCL shall exercise the same degree of care to protect the confidentiality of client's information as it exercises to protect its own confidential information, but in no event less than a reasonable degree of care. PCL shall not be restricted in the use of any information that is or becomes generally available to the public or PCL's customers through no fault of PCL, or that PCL can demonstrate was rightfully in its possession prior to receipt from client, or that PCL can demonstrate was developed independently by PCL without reference to client's information, or that PCL is required to disclose by law, regulation or court order, provided that PCL gives client reasonable prior notice of such disclosure and cooperates with client's reasonable requests to minimize the scope of such disclosure.

10. Hold Harmless

Client hereby indemnifies and holds harmless PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, successors and assigns from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the performance of this agreement by PCL, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the performance of this agreement by PCL, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the performance of this agreement by PCL, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the performance of this agreement by PCL, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services required by this agreement, client will provide and PCL will receive samples and materials for analysis which may contain hazardous substances, materials or other substances of a hazardous, toxic and substances which are defined, determined or designated as hazardous, toxic or pollutants under federal, state or local laws. PCL agrees to maintain in compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations all permits, licenses and approvals required by any governmental or regulatory authority in connection with the performance of its services under this agreement. Client shall comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations relating to the possession, use and disposal of any hazardous substances, materials or other substances provided to PCL or generated by PCL in connection with this agreement. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the possession, use or disposal of any hazardous substances, materials or other substances provided to PCL or generated by PCL in connection with this agreement, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the possession, use or disposal of any hazardous substances, materials or other substances provided to PCL or generated by PCL in connection with this agreement, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL. Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation, arising out of or in any way connected with the possession, use or disposal of any hazardous substances, materials or other substances provided to PCL or generated by PCL in connection with this agreement, except to the extent that such claims, liabilities, losses, damages, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the services. Unless otherwise agreed to in writing, the price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is required in advance of completion of services for all new clients or upon a showing of payment problems with clients. Accounts have been established with PCL and client's credit with all invoices are net 30 days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, a finance charge of 1.5% per month (18% per annum) shall be added to all accounts not paid within the stated time period. If collection proceedings through legal counsel are instituted, the client agrees to pay reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred by PCL, whether or not suit is filed.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms and conditions of this agreement shall be effective only if they are made in writing and executed by an authorized representative of each party. Any such changes, modifications or amendments shall be effective only to the extent specifically set forth in such writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of services or data, information, or reports issued by PCL. Client is acquiring services exclusively for its own account and not as agent for, or for the benefit of, any other person or entity. Except as otherwise specifically agreed to in writing by PCL, there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and no third party shall rely upon any services, information or reports issued by PCL. Client represents, warrants and agrees that any data, information and reports are not relied upon or used by client in connection with, or in support of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or dissemination of any securities, any prospectus or offering memorandum relating to the foregoing, or any loan, mortgage, refinancing or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the purchase or sale of any interest in real estate, and no third party shall be entitled to rely on any services, information or reports issued by PCL.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the turn around time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are imposed by others (e.g. regulatory agencies) that are beyond our control, such as delays in shipping, customs, weekends, holidays and inclement weather. Samples requiring rush and short holding times should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Lists of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 3 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours or allow PCL 24 hours holding time, whichever provides the most coverage. All short holding times (3 days or less) are subject to acceptance by PCL. Short holding times are subject to surcharges. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (excluding Saturday, Sunday and holidays) must be confirmed to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or driving issues are subject to additional cash fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for up to 30 days (20 days after analytical services completed, unless storage for longer periods is requested by the client). Prolonged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been created on a pre-scheduled, reasonable time basis allowing for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

These Terms and Conditions means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments to which we have agreed in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and to all its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services on, and only on, the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall govern each of PCL and the Client's (and their respective successors) agreement to which it does not expressly incorporate the Terms. No modification of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by duly authorized representatives of the Client and PCL.

The Client's agreement to these Terms is evidenced by (a) providing a written order of such to PCL, which order shall be subject to acceptance by the Client at PCL's option in its sole discretion, and the Client's signature on the Terms, or (b) the Client's agreement to these Terms and conditions. The Client's ordering of services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms and conditions additional to, or different from, those stated in these Terms and conditions, whether proposed in the Client's purchase order or other documents, shall be deemed to become a part of this contract, in the absence of the Client's written agreement to such terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including preparation of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM), or the Commission of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or as otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amounts for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or specifications.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conducting in and about the sampling site and for warning PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's particular order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for failure or delay to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the written materials or reports prepared by PCL personnel and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence between PCL and Client to the extent permitted by law or any PCL facility regulations. In addition to these or any PCL facility regulations, in the event of breach of the agreement, subject to any minimum requirement by law or federal regulations, PCL shall not be held responsible for subsequent misuse of data and shall not be responsible for misinterpretation of data by Client or any third party. Client agrees to indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent corporations and against any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation) arising out of or in connection with any claim by any third party relating to the services performed by PCL hereunder and the data and information provided by PCL hereunder, except to the extent that such liabilities, losses, damages, claims, costs and expenses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Client shall indemnify PCL against any and all claims, losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of litigation) arising out of or in connection with any claim by any third party relating to the performance of services hereunder by PCL

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including any quotation, and any additions or amendments to any quote we agree to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has required laboratory services, consulting or technical services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the then-current laboratory or PCL standard price schedule as such document may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and is willing to accept orders for services as specified herein only subject to the following terms and conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which addresses and incorporates the Terms. No qualifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written shall or such order (SOO) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the Terms and Conditions and Client agrees to be bound by these Terms and Conditions. The Client's placement of samples to PCL or acceptance of laboratory services constitutes the Client's explicit assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No provision of additional terms and conditions contained in any Client's document shall be deemed to be only a part of the contract unless accepted in writing by PCL.

For the purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including any oral or written reports and communications rendered by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of performance in the profession where applicable. PCL will use methods commonly accepted which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), US Watershed (TIAM), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or circumstances of the samples or otherwise based on the professional judgement of PCL. Deviations will be made in a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the Client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order or SOO or payment releases PCL from any liability or claims of the received analysis for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for, delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and information which is developed by PCL in the course of Client's request and the results rendered by PCL shall be held in confidence from third parties unless Client consents in writing to release it to the public or in the public domain or unless it is required by law or by court order. Any information provided by Client to PCL shall be held in confidence by PCL except to the extent that it is in the public domain or required by law or by court order. Client shall be responsible for complying with any applicable regulations regarding any samples submitted to PCL and shall indemnify PCL against any claims, damages, losses or expenses arising out of or relating to any failure by Client to comply with such regulations. PCL retains the right to use any and results of client samples for internal quality control purposes and for the development of new methods and procedures. Client agrees that PCL may subcontract any portion of the services to other qualified laboratories.

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees to defend, indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, successors and assigns from and against any and all claims, losses, damages, liabilities, costs, and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs) arising out of or relating to any third party claim alleging breach of any representation or warranty, negligence or willful misconduct by Client in connection with the performance of services hereunder. Client shall not settle any such claim without PCL's prior written consent. PCL reserves the right to select counsel to represent PCL in any such claim at Client's expense. Client's obligations under this section shall survive the termination of this agreement for any reason.

11. Hazardous Substances

Client is responsible for samples submitted by them. Client will identify and notify PCL in writing of any samples submitted for analysis such as, but not limited to, samples containing radioactive materials, poisons, explosives, corrosives, flammables, microbiological or epidemiological agents and known or suspected carcinogens. Client will be responsible for all costs associated with the proper disposal of such samples. Client agrees to indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its officers, employees, agents and subcontractors from any and all claims, losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs) arising out of or relating to any failure by Client to comply with this section. Client's obligations under this section shall survive the termination of this agreement for any reason.

12. Prices/Payments

Quotes shall be valid for a period of thirty (30) days from the date of the quote, unless otherwise specified in the quote. Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or cash on delivery is required for new clients. Payment terms for established clients are net thirty (30) days from date of invoice. In the event payment is not made when due and PCL engages counsel or pursues any of the remedies permitted herein, Client shall pay all costs of collection, including reasonable attorneys' fees, whether or not suit is filed. Client agrees to pay all applicable taxes, duties and other charges imposed by any governmental authority on the services rendered hereunder.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms of Sale will be effective only if made in writing and signed by both PCL and the Client. PCL's failure to insist upon or enforce strict performance of any provision of these Terms shall not be construed as a waiver of any such provision or right.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability to any Client or other person or entity with whom PCL has not contracted to perform services. Client agrees to indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its officers and employees from any claim, demand or cause of action arising out of or relating to any unauthorized use or distribution of any report or other work product issued by PCL to Client. Client acknowledges and agrees that PCL's reports, analyses and opinions are not transferable, assignable or negotiable and may not be relied upon by any person other than Client, without the express written consent of PCL, which may be withheld in PCL's sole discretion. Client shall not publish, reproduce or distribute any report or other work product issued by PCL to Client, in whole or in part, without the prior written consent of PCL. Client shall not use any report or other work product issued by PCL to Client in any manner that is misleading or inaccurate or that misrepresents the services performed by PCL. Client shall indemnify and hold harmless PCL, its officers and employees from any claim, demand or cause of action arising out of or relating to any breach of this section by Client.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis is available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL shall not be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior authorization and concurrence. Standard holding times are always questions should be reviewed prior to any analyses being received by PCL. Lists of holding times can be provided to the Client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within 8 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All other holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours of sample collection to ensure that the holding time will be met. Short holding times of 48 hours or less, it is the client's responsibility to ensure that samples are received by the laboratory within the holding times as listed. Note: holding times are not guaranteed unless prior arrangements are made. Also, holiday, inclement weather, instrument breakdown or other factors may cause delays or similar times are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are given as of the end of the collection date of the sample and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are accepted for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Samples can be held for longer periods by client's request. Fee arrangements from clients is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been established for the fee schedule. If any unforeseen delays occurred for each pick up or service, client will be charged for the pick up or sampling, regardless of acceptance or rejection fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which shall incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract, except upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of knowledge in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodology in which are in accordance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 1-4 Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or New Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature of sample(s) or of the sampling or collection based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is in the public domain or Client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical know-how, software, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses including, but not limited to attorney fees, (the "Losses") asserted against or paid to defend or settle by Client or any third party as a result of, arising in any way relating, incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, condition or disposal of client's hazardous materials or waste, damage or death of persons or property, failure to act or failure to act properly on behalf of Client or any agent thereof. Client shall pay to PCL on demand any and all expenses including legal fees and costs incurred by PCL in connection with the investigation or defense of any of the foregoing claims, costs, demands, actions, suits, judgments or liabilities. Client shall not be liable for any claim, liability or loss caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, client agrees to hold PCL harmless from any and all claims, demands, actions, suits, judgments or liabilities, claims, damages, penalties, fines, costs, attorneys' fees or expenses of every kind and nature whatsoever arising in connection with the storage, treatment, transportation, disposal or handling of hazardous materials or waste by any independent person, whether actual or asserted, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnity shall survive the termination of this agreement. Client agrees to indemnify PCL and hold it harmless from any and all claims, demands, actions, suits, judgments or liabilities, costs, damages, penalties, fines or expenses, including attorneys' fees, arising out of or in connection with PCL's performance of services under this agreement, except to the extent that any such claim, liability or loss is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, client agrees to hold PCL harmless from any and all claims, demands, actions, suits, judgments or liabilities, claims, damages, penalties, fines, costs, attorneys' fees or expenses of every kind and nature whatsoever arising in connection with the storage, treatment, transportation, disposal or handling of hazardous materials or waste by any independent person, whether actual or asserted, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnity shall survive the termination of this agreement. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any amendments or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services, and his or its heirs, successors, assigns, and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule in such document may be amended or removed from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined hereinafter) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes: 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the Terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these Terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by the Terms and conditions. No printed or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the Terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standard of workmanship in the profession, where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CSAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services. Notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay in failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement. Client to provide notice required by law or legal process to PCL in advance. PCL uses standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client, and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other information.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, litigation, arbitration and investigation fees or costs, in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or in connection, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, if any, (except to the extent of gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees). Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims client manager, officers or employees and regulatory agencies or in connection with the negligence of or claims asserted by any indemnified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will survive expiration or termination of this agreement. Client shall not be liable to PCL or the other Indemnified Persons, to the extent permitted by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law, or not more than PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other loss including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or an indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, dioxins or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under Federal, State or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (or after law existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any federal or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of service(s) on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or credit card is required for all new clients of PCL. Industry standard and/or public account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (30) within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees established with such collection procedures or courts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Verbal or oral subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or results furnished to PCL. Client is acting on own behalf for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to retain, or shall be used to retain client, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with, directly or indirectly, any government body, agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours of when PCL is given holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All analyses having 7-10 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that require next day delivery must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is removed only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions to amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or submission of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No printed or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) for the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of said reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the obligation, if awarded and awarded arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to or arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement) and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, use of, or loss or use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims or charges, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client might otherwise have at PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the laboratory has

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted, promulgated or any revised or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL is at client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all those clients lacking a history of payment and/or credit activity has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (Insert number) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's (in-house) agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Verbal or subsequent orders for additional services may be taken but are to be in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is providing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other persons or firms. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third parties may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or used by client to relate, or in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contract with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency, department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that may exceed the date of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2:00 on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All tests have holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Tests Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria) must be delivered Mon-Fri only as we cannot guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage (longer periods) is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated in the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 waterboard (TLLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of all or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services, notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain, or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose or any third party any information including technical information, methods, processes or other techniques.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, the Litigation Estimate and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and or, 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnification does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence, willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to fines, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of duty by any intended person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In the event that PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement such limitation provided under this agreement shall control to the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bulk analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operation on the date the services were rendered or with prices stated and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis of completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit acceptance has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within forty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or any applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Verbal and subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports developed by PCL. Client is providing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or party. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on PCL's data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or shall be used to solicit loans in connection with or as part of the purchase, securitization, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the servicing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times in the case of samples that are delivered on weekends or after business hours without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that arrive in 4 hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are reflect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who/ they receive laboratory services, including its consulting services and to its directors, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for service as (as defined herein) only under the following terms of Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written Letter of Authority (LOA) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession where applicable. PCL extends no warranties or guarantees whatsoever with respect to compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Water Board (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's execution of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services rendered hereunder, any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether or placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrices provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for misutilization/disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning personal information, software programs or other trade secrets.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the "Losses") asserted and awarded arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incidental to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, and/or transportation, handling or disposition (client's hazardous materials), injury, disease or death of persons or loss of, damage to, theft or use of use of property and/or 3. the existence of environment of chemicals. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing to the extent, but only to the extent, caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, charges, actions of any kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any unidentified person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and its employees. Client further, to the extent permitted under applicable law, client agrees that client's indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and/or the cost of jury judgement interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, source and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL is on client or client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect on the date of operations on the date the services were completed or such gross negligent and agent confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an account established, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted at all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees incurred in connection with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and client's authorized representative, except that supplemental orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting as sole responsible for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries of this agreement, and that no third party shall rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not forwarded, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the preparation, use, sale, lending, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any company, the lending, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL a reasonable holding period without applying a rush surcharge. All tests holding times of 48 hours, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before evaluation to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short holding times of 48 hours or less that client is to found must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, weight concerns, delays or shorter holding times are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined hereinafter) under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written Chain of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions and/or a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection to the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided hereunder or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public, or is the public domain or client has title to data PCL for all services rendered or to perform in breach of the agreement), subject to any court mandate required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard of care observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other innovations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses and costs including, but not limited to all court fees (litigation), expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials; 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. To that this indemnity shall not be legally valid, to the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for any special, punitive, exemplary or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption), litigation expenses or attorney fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and, or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or cost incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, pollutant mixed chemicals, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as directed by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for and/or bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of execution on the date the services were ordered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when invoice is completed is required for all new clients or where a history of payment and/or credit account has not been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are net CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by at all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting, whether hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not tendered, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any security, any sample or offer reporting to the holders of any security, the sale, assignment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior modification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Lists of holding times can be provided by the client if requested. All analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before separation to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its agents, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL)'s standard price schedule, or such documents may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined below) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes (i) an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and (2) an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No company or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract notwithstanding acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Waterboard (USGS), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample(s) or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples will be provided by client or on client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is publicly available or the public at large or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered). Furthermore, in pursuit of the agreement, neither party to any action required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and information to keep confidential Client's disclosure of said data which is identified in writing as confidential. All reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that it shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical know-how, software, programs or other methodologies.

10. Hold Harmless

Client is aware and shall save harmless, defend, and hold PCL, its employees, officers, subcontractors, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages (client, hereinafter "claims") of action, costs and expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the obligation to defend, and assess, arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's samples or materials, whether or death of persons or loss of, damage to, or loss of use of property arising as a consequence of any and all of the foregoing unless such damages are caused directly by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL and its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not apply to injury, claims or charges arising out of or in connection with the client's failure to comply with any applicable law. Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished to client, with an insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In the event PCL is made a party to any lawsuit, hearing, special proceeding or administrative investigation arising out of or in connection with this agreement or any services performed hereunder by client or any other party to any litigation against or involving PCL or any officer or employee in connection with this agreement or any actions performed under this agreement, except claims of the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, pesticide-related chemicals, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic-containing wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules. PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any interpretation of administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of retained samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample unless, that, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations on the basis the services were rendered or work progressed and taxes reimposed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or cash on delivery is customarily required for all new clients or upon a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET (insert action term) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount owing at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the rate of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month, as the case may be. If unpaid amounts are referred to debt legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees of agents for collection and such collection proceedings or claims.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL with the client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is hereby severally hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and client has no third party rights to such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be relied upon by, or communicated to, in connection with or regard of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, and that any or other reporting to the holders of any security, the pending, entertainment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or participating with or directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after hours on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance, standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours of when PCL or client is willing unless in short advising a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab in less than 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered every same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consisting of sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or in relation of requesting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboards (CLIIP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services rendered hereunder any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered and incurred in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in safeguarding its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, methods, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all costs for the litigation (save harmless and properly acting in favor of client or any third party as a result of, wholly or in any way directly incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement) and/or investigation (whether or not client's fault is proven) of claims, demands, or actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligent act or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client might otherwise have at PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent not barred under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees for pre-and post-judgment interest), or any other expenses of every incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples solely for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or radiochemical wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws. PCL believes all regulations (existing now existing or being after enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of such shall call the "Hazardous Materials". Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written (hard or electronic (COC)) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express agreement to be governed by these terms and conditions. No preprinted or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of accountability in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assisting PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided shall be for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client without disclose to any third party any information concerning method information, software, processes or other technologies.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all claims, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, the Litigation Expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials; 1. injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, access of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, suits, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any indemnity which the Indemnified Persons would have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent (necessary under applicable law), client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, with insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) (Litigation Expenses or other fees providing, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre-post judgment interest), or any other expenses to client incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples retained by PCL for any lab terminal analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

"Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or defined services) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written (hard of electronic (e.g. e-mail)) request for services to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1) an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2) an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's request and shall be governed by these terms and conditions. No preprinted or additional terms and conditions appearing on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the Services in accordance with the normal standards of accomplishment in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 C.F.R. Watershield (STAR), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or circumstances of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amounts for said services. Client's execution of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amounts for the services, notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered, via messenger or other mail to laboratory subject to prior notification or acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be followed prior to the samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analytical and holding times of 24 hours or less, calculated from a time within the hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All rush holding times of less, complicated prior at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short holding times of 48 hours or less in Pennsylvania environment are observed that some days to allow for guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight companies delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the liability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for a period of thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Prolonged long term storage is subject to an Additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms does not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. An acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conditions or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use laboratories methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the professional judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client is/ was to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys fees (the Losses & Expenses) and awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring, incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or implementation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials; 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. actual damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. The above indemnification applies to and of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to fines, claims, charges, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any intoxicated Person, whether in action or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruptions, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgement interests, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or an indemnified person in connection with this agreement or services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). client unintentionally and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis or preservation analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedules in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices negotiated and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is required for all new clients and clients who have not established credit accounts. The terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid of the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law to one and one-half percent (1.50%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Verbal or subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall not be relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed, proof to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, 15 minutes) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any amendments or addendums to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services consisting of sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by particular a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes (i) an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and (ii) an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to constitute a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 24 Watershield (FEAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or components of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the clients arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancelation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or in other ways in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data when such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereunder is for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning services, information, or fixed programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, suits, or actions, fines and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees, litigation expenses and award costs in favor of client or any third party as a result of, whole or any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, sample transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, or injury, damage, death of persons or property, damage to, loss of, or use of property owned by, and/or in possession of client. The foregoing does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, suits, fines, causes of action, by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, PCL is not liable for consequential, special, or indirect damages, claims damages, actions or injury, cost and manufacturing out of error committed and the negligent or the absence of omission by any unidentified person, whether active or present, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing notwithstanding will have a defense to any claims which the client might otherwise have as PCL and its other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with insurance coverage to be maintained within applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (regardless of whether PCL was advised of the possibility of such losses, expenses or costs) incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls (pcb's) or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or designated as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab potential analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit acceptance has been established with PCL. For local clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within forty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate provided by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are referred through legal proceedings or to an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and Attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and persons authorized representatives, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting as an independent contractor for its own account, and not as agent or broker for any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that test data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities for periods or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded by reason of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be ordered prior to any samples being received by PCL. Acids of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before evaluation to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Pesticides & Nitrate) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. Other factors, late delivery, freight company delays or digital issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" refers to these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who or which requests laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereon are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, programs or other installations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all Liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, the litigation's expenses and penalties arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, condition or disposal of regulated materials, a) bodily injury or death of persons 2. sickness, damage to, illness, or loss of use of property, and 3. personal loss of every kind of character. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, claims, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to client's claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (sole or concurrent) caused by any indemnified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of this agreement (the agreement). The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights to which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent not limited under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other loss (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fair pre or post judgment interest)), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party to any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide, and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof) the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will return to all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab tests/analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or the time the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or on all analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET Cash within forty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees of against fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is entering services hereunder for its own account, as such or agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to solicited, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with the issuance of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, the periodic or other reporting to the holders of any securities, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are expired because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm for analysis without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analysis with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All tests holding times of 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short holding times of 48 hours or less shortened 5-9 hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weekend deliveries or special drivers are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of our fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor to be hired for all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined hereinafter) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 Waterboard (ESAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or advisable are due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for such services. Client's acceptance of a work order will for purposes release PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services outstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the private materials provided by/owned of all client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, data or programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees (the judgments, combined and awards) arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. losses, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. fines and acts of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, suits, damages, obligations valued solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to fines, claims or regulatory actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnity is in addition to and not in lieu of any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or attorneys fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees are at post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any third party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any interested person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analytes such as asbestos, potentially mixed solvents, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of contract or on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment satisfactory to us has been established with PCL. For clients credit with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by Client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is serving services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent to broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to refund upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are to affect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who shall request laboratory services, including or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Client Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No qualifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written work order (WO) to PCL. Any such written communication is an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and is an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or acceptance of consulting services shall be deemed acceptance of these Terms and Conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or acceptance of consulting services shall be deemed acceptance of these Terms and Conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions contained in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract unless upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or circumstances of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and test results made available by PCL to Client at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or Client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data when such standard has been met. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and may not be relied upon by third parties or used in connection with boilerplate information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and costs and expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees (the "Losses") incurred and awarded following defense of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way connected with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, delivery or disposal of samples hereunder. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Client shall indemnify PCL for Losses resulting from any claim, damage, fine, penalty or action of any governmental or regulatory agency, or any and all Losses or property and/or personal loss of every kind and character. This indemnification shall apply to any of the foregoing losses which, directly or indirectly, arise from or relate to the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which coverage shall specifically name PCL and its employees, officers, directors and agents as additional insureds. In the event client fails to meet its indemnity obligation, PCL shall be entitled to collect its reasonable attorneys' fees, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and costs of appeal, judgement enforcement or any other measures to collect amounts due client or any other party in any respect against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services rendered under this agreement or any dispute in the relationship between the parties.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste, and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any material administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples or specimens by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of service or on the date the services were rendered or as the prices are agreed upon and confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or after analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon a history of delinquent payments or non-payment with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (date of invoice) thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law and one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the invoiced balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay PCL's reasonable costs and attorney's fees in addition to the unpaid amount plus interest.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL. PCL's representatives are not authorized to make any oral agreements. Quotes for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports prepared by PCL. Client is solely responsible for its own analysis and use of data or information and any other representations. Liability for any other person or entity is denied and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not published, or shall be kept strictly confidential in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any exception to the foregoing or the issuance of any report to the securities underwriter, counsel, or purchaser of any loan from any financial institution or other lender in the participation in or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the regular price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL assumes no responsibility for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received or are received after 3pm on weekdays and/or after notification and on weekends. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to the sampling having commenced by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a Rush surcharge. All short holding times 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to allow for the holding times to be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria or tests) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weather conditions or similar issues are subject to additional surcharges and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect at time of publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by special only. Prearranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been listed on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be subject to an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the Client's assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No portion of additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviation, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain or client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of this agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client's agents and there shall be no third party beneficiaries to such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all costs from (the negligence) asserted and/or arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. injury, disease or death of persons; 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. business loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of personal injuries by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent such liability applies, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with limits not less than the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses of costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL in any indemnified parties in connection with this agreement or all services rendered under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. A current schedule of when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon initiation of payment and/or credit accounts have been established with PCL. For check clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET cash within thirty (30) days from date of invoice, to the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agency fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients with signed checks or drafts. Verbal or telephonic orders for additional services may be accepted in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent for, nor on account of, any other representative capacity for any client, person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not rendered, or to be used, to refer to loans, in connection with or in aid of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any securities, the securing, amortization, renewal, extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or concerning any directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any subsequent reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the regular price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must be received within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without incurring a rush surcharge. All short holding time analyses, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 5 days. Before experiments to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less must be received by 5 hours to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of our fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage beyond this period is by request only. Extended long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been quoted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviation, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain or client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of this agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client's agents and there shall be no third party beneficiaries to such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all costs from (the negligence) asserted and/or arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. injury, disease or death of persons; 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. business loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of personal injuries by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent such liability applies, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with limits not less than the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses of costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL in any indemnified parties in connection with this agreement or all services rendered under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. A current schedule of when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon initiation of payment and/or credit accounts have been established with PCL. For check clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET cash within thirty (30) days from date of invoice, to the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agency fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients with signed checks or drafts. Verbal or telephonic orders for additional services may be accepted in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent for, nor on account of, any other representative capacity for any client, person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not rendered, or to be used, to refer to loans, in connection with or in aid of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any securities, the securing, amortization, renewal, extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or concerning any directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any subsequent reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the regular price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must be received within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without incurring a rush surcharge. All short holding time analyses, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 5 days. Before experiments to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less must be received by 5 hours to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of our fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage beyond this period is by request only. Extended long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been quoted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any amendments or addendums hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall or deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the sample(s) or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the Client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or the public domain or client has itself to pay PCL for all services rendered or to otherwise in connection the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall apply the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that any use by third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses (including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, court or litigation expenses and amounts paid in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting from) incurring, due to, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from operations, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. This release of claims of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss in use of property, and/or 3. fines or loss of every kind of character. This indemnification applies to any of the foregoing suits, costs, damages, or judgments caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, consequential, or exemplary damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or attorneys fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees paid to post judgment referees), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as provided or provided under this agreement even if client or the previously said.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples material for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (as either now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL is the client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify it's preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples, which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples delivered to PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of commencement of the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or client analysis completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit accounts has been established with PCL. For those clients with a established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice, to the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Verbal or subsequent orders for additional services may be confirmed in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is placing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be used, or shall not be used to solicit orders, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any prospectus or other reporting to the investing public, any renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with agencies or individuals, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times due to unintended receipt of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must be received within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as a 24 hour) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of the fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Any arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined below) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by those terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies (if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or conditions of the samples or otherwise) based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for allowing PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided shall be for the exclusive use and benefit of client and only agreed there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, fine, litigation expenses and awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, misuse of, or use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) whatever (however or when) arising (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and all pre-and post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's EA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all terminal analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of commencement of the date the services were rendered or with prices subsequently confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or advance analysis is completed is required for all new clients or upon a history of payment and/or credit exceptions have been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice, to the fullest extent permitted by all applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective upon signed and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not requested or shall not be used to relied upon, in connection and/or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, syndication of any securities, any lender or other reporting to the holders of any security, the issuing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are reviewed because of samples that are delivered on weekends or other days on which it is without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 72 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours (to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (factoring in hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed as additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract, except upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 14 Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or to the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for 30 services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous material(s), 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (if or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption). Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees pre or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses of costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agencies fees associated with such collection process and/or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any indenture, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times will be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as 24 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been instated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any amendments or addenda to such terms which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which governs and supersedes the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and Client agrees to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's assent to agree to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed in a Client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract unless PCL does acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including preparation of all documents and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are substantially conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Interagency Board (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL standard operating procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amounts for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or subsequent release PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amounts for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the collection which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is publicly available to the public or in the public domain or client has agreed to pay PCL for all services rendered in connection with the agreement), subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information in graphical forms are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and cannot against these shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports. Data or information provided will not disclose to any third party any information considered technical information such as, software processes or lab or formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client to defend and hold harmless, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and costs and expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys fees, litigation costs and amounts paid or payable in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, arising in any way or arising incidental to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and PCL interpretations, omissions or opinions and Client's acceptance of such services, except to the extent that such liabilities, losses or damages are caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity will specifically apply to losses, claims, suits, actions, damages or every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the Client might otherwise have in PCL and the same shall survive the expiration or termination of this agreement. Client shall not be responsible for any liability, damages, costs or expenses which are caused by a certain liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which coverage shall be to the maximum extent as permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) regardless of whether such damages were foreseeable and whether PCL was advised of the possibility of such damages, and PCL's liability for any breach of this agreement, whether by negligence or otherwise, shall be limited to the amount paid by client to PCL for the services performed in connection with this agreement. All claims against PCL must be made within one (1) year after the cause of action accrues.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the tests as requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos material analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of consideration on the date the services were conducted or as the prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or other payment is considered required for all new clients or until a history of account and/or credit approval has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET DATE within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days shall be subject to interest at the level of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month (whichever amount is less). If payment is to be collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with collecting the unpaid balance or amount.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and Client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for Client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is ordering services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or any other representative capacity for any other person or party. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third parties may rely on such data, interpretations, reports, opinions, warranties and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be relied upon or shall be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any conditions or other reporting to the holders of any notes, while securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or compliance with statutes or ordinances, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For assurance of holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours to allow PCL ample holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (i.e. 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours) must be examined to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short holding times (24 hours or less (hydrazine) is found most to be unstable that cannot easily be accepted for holding times or more. After hours, late deliveries, freight customs delays, or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Prearranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Charges will be discussed at the time of the order and subject to change time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been added to the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 WatersGard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client is filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or in connection in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of and data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not Limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or less of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence in or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgement interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and rates confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required NET all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrices provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of and data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis. Client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect on the date of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with a established credit accounts, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by Client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereinder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional or amended terms to which we agree to be bound in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may place an order by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No oral or any or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to be or to be a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of knowledge in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use accepted methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (RWQCB), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the professional judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors or new client arising out of or connected with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order will further release PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform our services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Any and the sample materials provided to client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public domain or Client has waived by PCL for all services rendered as in effect as on date of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of confidential information despite such standard use otherwise. PCL's reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and no other agents. There shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning confidential information, trade secrets or other proprietary rights.

10. Hold Harmless

Client to defend, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and costs and expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and attorneys fees (including in favor of Client or any third party or a result of, or due to any assuming insurance in arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, illness, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, misuse of, or use of property and/or 3. Property loss of environment or character. This indemnity provision applies to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or expenses suffered solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall also specifically apply to incident claims charges, actions or proceedings and Litigation arising out of or in connection with the negligence or misconduct by any consultant or subcontractor Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing responsibilities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary, under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage as so furnished by client, which may place limits on the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other loss (including without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of appeal bonds) in any way associated or even connected by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person or claim either with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples/materials for analysis which is or asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, lead or any other hazardous or toxic chemical, material and substance which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL expressly stipulates (another now according to be, either analyzed or contemplated or any material or specification determined as of any time of the Client/PCL Relationship). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials provided to PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's standard policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical or chemical analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who or by request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written Chain of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any subsequent correspondence by the client of PCL's effort to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or by alternative consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No oral or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be accepted to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care/diligence in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (TLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its obligations pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided hereunder or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has and to pay PCL for all services rendered up to effective as of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of confidential information while observing PCL reports and information, penalties may include the forfeiture of any and all of client and PCL agree there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, subcontractors, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, fine, litigation, investigation and expert's charge in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incidental to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. illness, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and 3. financial loss of every kind or character. The foregoing does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, etc. arising solely from the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, claims damages, actions or causes and punitive, treble, or consequential damages, including without limitation, loss of profits, business interruption, attorneys fees, court costs and any and all other expenses incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, appeal or involving PCL or any information or person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples essentials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as approved by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations or where the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when services completed required for all new clients or until a history of accounts with PCL account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. In the event reasonable attorney's fees and all applicable law, any amounts in past due and of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable court and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection, collection or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective and enforceable and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be placed orally or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is receiving services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or trustee of or any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party has any rights to such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall not be relied upon, in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting or participation in any security, any permit or other regulatory or financial matters of any kind or the securing, consummation, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or participating with investors, underwriters, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any subsequent reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered to us, or samples not received without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be followed in order to analyze samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All client holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times are not missed. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Nitrate, Nitrite, Orthophosphate, Dissolved Oxygen, pH, Sulfite, Residual Chlorine, Total Chlorine, Hexavalent Chromium, Sulfide, Dissolved Sulfide) must be delivered that same day in order to avoiding holding times and wait. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of the fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable fees has been allocated for a pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto as set out or incorporated in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services, and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does refer to or include the Terms. Any modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Waterboard (FLDP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's exception of a write order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services issued/standing. Any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the situation where the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Client and the sample matrices provided by client or on client's request and the results generated by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, trade programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and current harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the obligation, payment and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or interpretation, printing or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. illness, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, theft of, or loss of use of property and or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing arising from, caused by, or resulting solely from the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, charges, actions or causes of action and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or unlawful conduct by any individual or person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might have with respect to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption or litigation. Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and/or pre-judgment interest, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified persons in connection with this agreement or an invoice provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any material administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or its PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any of its analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operation on the date the services were rendered or such other rates and terms as specified in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when service is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, all accounts not paid in full within thirty (30) days of the invoice date shall be subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable court and attorney's fees in addition to any associated late and collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that written requests for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is providing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to solicit upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any interest, the securing, assumption, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or concurrence with directors, or any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after business hours without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours. Please let us know in advance that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less that samples must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for 45 days after the date of final analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, quotation, addendum or amendment thereto and attached to or referring "Client" means the individual or entity who or that requests laboratory testing, consulting or sampling services and/or to its firms, successors, affiliates and representatives. "Price Schedule" means PCL's Client Logistics manual PCL's standard price schedule as such document may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL accepts and will accept orders for services (or portions thereof) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which expressly is inconsistent with the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written (mail or fax) or verbal order to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these Terms and Conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No preprinted or additional terms and conditions appearing on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waters Used (FLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and the PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services outstanding and any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and/or samples submitted by or for the owner or client's account and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed a copy w/ PCL for all services commencing in otherwise in breach of the agreement). Subject to any duties now required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such disclosure was otherwise. PCL reports and information are solely for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client against them shall not be used by any third party in any reports, data or information. Client and each person or any third party any information, something, technical information, software programs or other form or nature.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall hold, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to, court costs, attorney's fees and amounts awarded arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way relating, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i.e. injury, illness or death of persons, i.e. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property, and 2. financial loss of every kind and character. This indemnity agreement applies to any of the foregoing losses, claims, damages or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, amounts of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence, intentional fault or any and unidentified Person, whether active or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent not prohibited under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (litigation expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and (or) are to post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement against client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide, and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws. PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or to PCL's QA/QC protocols. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis (primary samples), client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission on the date the services were rendered, unless prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or at completion is compulsory if required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit worthiness has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET Cash within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to suggest, or shall be used to refund upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 96 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" herein refer to these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which document incorporates the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and agreed to by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL, or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions enumerated in a Client's document shall be deemed to modify a part of the contract based upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in accordance/or conform/to/with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Water Board (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the circumstances which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples or test specimens analyzed at or at Client's request and the reports prepared by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or Client has time to pay PCL for all services rendered with reference to or based on the agreement subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information generated hereunder are the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports. Client's information, Client services provided by any other person requiring technical interpretation, software, processes or other technology.

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, consultants, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses (including, but not limited to, all court fees, litigation, investigation, reasonable attorneys' fees) of whatever kind or nature, arising out of, in connection with or resulting from the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or any proposal, handling or disposal of Client's samples hereunder. In no event shall PCL be liable for any consequential, incidental, indirect, punitive or special damages of any kind or nature whatsoever, including, without limitation, lost profits, loss of use, loss of data or information of any kind, arising out of or in connection with this agreement, whether or not PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages, and on any theory of liability, arising out of or in connection with the performance of services hereunder or any proposal. The foregoing shall constitute a waiver of any and all claims which the undersigned Client may have against PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligations will be supported by insurance. Client shall name PCL as an additional insured, shall waive subrogation against PCL with respect to any insurance coverage maintained under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption (all Direct Expenses to cover fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and all other out-of-pocket expenses), or any other expenses or costs incurred by Client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or services provided under this agreement except those of the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, Client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, asbestos-related hydrocarbons, bacteria or any other substances or PCB material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any amended or administrative interpretation of any thereof) the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL in connection or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify or otherwise request disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis (Client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted) in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client may pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the date the services were provided or such prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of work analysis is required (1) required (2) all new clients or until a history of payment on the credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (Client will pay within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. In the event Client is entitled to or will be entitled to take any discount (equal to or less than one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month) on any invoice and Client fails to timely remit payment as required by such discount, or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or expenses incurred in connection with collection, regardless of effort.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Except for subsequent orders for additional services in any be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility for Client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished to PCL. Client is retaining services for its own benefit, own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on data, information or reports. Except as expressly, warrants and agrees that such data, information and reports are not copyrighted, or shall be used by, republication, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, endorsement, or distribution of any securities, any person or other reporting to the buyers of any security. No opinion, advice, report, review or extension of any kind from and financial institution or other lender or PCL certificate is in connection with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, as well as addenda or amendments to the same, as agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity which has placed quotation requests, purchased or requested services, and has or receives samples, analyses, reports, and representations. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule or such document may be provided or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) exclusively on the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the client have otherwise executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order, submission, or acceptance by the client or PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and / or agreement shall be bound by these Terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or acceptance of requested services constitutes the client's assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No order or conditional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to be more a part of this contract based upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be provided by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standard of care prevailing in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLIAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in terms connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or a report relieves PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the service(s) rendered, any discounts to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and countersigned by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client is ordered by PCL for all services rendered to it hereunder or by virtue of this agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data when such standard is observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning methods, data, results and procedures or other information.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) relating to all civil claims, Litigation, Lawsuits and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, relating to any way occurring, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, and / or information, handling or disposal of client's hazardous chemicals, 1. Injury, illness or death of persons; 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of use of, or use of property; and / or 3. Environmental or every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing which arises solely and directly as a result of the negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not apply to any claims, damages, actions or every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or misconduct of any third party not employed by PCL, who in any way participated in the performance of services pursuant to this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and separately from the insurance coverage PCL and the other Indemnified Parties have in effect or are required to have in connection with the services. To the extent permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, exemplary, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) of any kind. Expenses of litigation (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and client's own cost) judgments, awards, or any other expenses incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any Indemnified Party in connection with this agreement or as otherwise permitted under this agreement, even if client, the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete information for analyses (such as odor data, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other biological or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from or on client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policy. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples or testimonial fees. PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of commission or the case the services were rendered in such price quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. A commission, quantity or other quotation is considered accepted for all new clients or upon a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For charge client with an established credit account, payment for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days shall accrue interest at the rate of one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If collection efforts are commenced through lawful proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents, and associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Without prior notice, no verbal or additional written agreement shall be binding.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is solely responsible for its own decisions, and no use of or reliance on PCL's data, information, or reports by any other representatives, agents, or employees of client is authorized by PCL. Client acknowledges that any and all third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on PCL data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information, and reports are not intended, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or syndication of any securities, any portion or other reporting to the holders of any notes or the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged or approved. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 48 hours or else PCL cannot hold to holding times without accepting a rush surcharge. For most holding times of 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Nitrate) is a subject must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, traffic, company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been quoted on the fee schedule. Appropriate time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC guidelines. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the Certificate of Analysis prepared by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, the litigation if any and any awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach or conduct by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruptions, Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgement interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as are always provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under Federal, State or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all Bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in Accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operation on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients for until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the cover sheet(s), any addendum or amendment executed by the parties in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has ordered laboratory services, consulting or reporting services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns, and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule, as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not supersede PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such orders constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the results obtained by PCL in the course of Client's request and the reports approved by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is publicly available or is or subsequently in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other instructions.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the "Indemnified Expenses") and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property, and/or 3. financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (or breach of contract) by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre and post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of acceptance of the order the services were rendered or with prices stated and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or client analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by at will by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or twenty five calculated with such collection procedure or otherwise.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client in securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity, it is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client covenants, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to refuse upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been restated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including any price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity that may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) then-current price schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or portions hereof) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms must be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the Terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services shall indicate the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a Client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract (materially) in exchange of the Terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use technical methodologies which are in substance, consistently with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S Waterboard (USDP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or data/data based on the reasonable judgement of PCL's chemists. If any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for providing to and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether stated in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrix (and identifying marks) of client's received and the results determined by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or agreed to be used by PCL for all services rendered or in connection. Breach of the agreement subject to any remedies available to the injured party. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of materials where authorization was observed. PCL reserves and maintains proprietary claims and for the purposes and benefits of Client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports. Client also agrees Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning PCL's information, software, systems or other trade secrets.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages (including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs), claims, causes of action, suits and other legal expenses incurred, suffered or awarded arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way directly involved in, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from any actual or alleged breach or default of Client's hereunder (collectively, "Claims"), including, but not limited to, Claims relating to or arising out of any personal injury, death or property damage, and/or any and all claims of trespass and/or violation of any kind of statute. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, and other Claims solely to the gross negligence and/or misconduct of PCL or its employees. To the fullest extent permitted by law, Client shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent from and against any and all Claims arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from any actual or alleged breach or default of Client's hereunder by the Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and not subject to which the indemnified Persons may have PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted applicable law, client agrees that as indemnity obligation will be satisfied by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, an amount equal to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and all amounts paid judgment interest) or any other expenses to client incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any of its officers or personnel in connection with this agreement or as expressly prohibited under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including any price schedule and any additions or amendments which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting, sampling services and who is its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or released from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL will solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined hereinbelow) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall apply if PCL and the Client shall not have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client's work order request by submitting a written Work Order (a "WO") to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of a sampling service constitutes the Client's acceptance to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a Client's document shall be deemed to be or form a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of accountancy in the profession. Where appropriate, PCL will use statistical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboards (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature of compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order, and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or Client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement. Unless by any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall exercise the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data unless such disclosure is caused by PCL's gross negligence or willful misconduct. Client will not disclose any information concerning PCL's methods or procedures to any third party without PCL's prior written consent.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, actions, damages, claims, demands, losses, penalties, suits and other related expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, charges and fees incurred in awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and to the extent caused by, incidents or events that occur in connection with the performance of services by PCL hereunder to the extent such liability, damage, loss, claim, action, suit, penalty, fine or demand is caused by Client's (or Client's customers, if any) acts or omissions, including, but not limited to, claims, damages, losses and expenses, including attorneys' fees and costs, arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any employee or Client Person, whether or not such is alleged in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnification will not apply to any liability which has been caused by PCL's gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not apply to any of the following losses, costs, damages or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not apply to losses, claims, damages, demands or suits that are partially arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any employee of Client Person, whether or not such is alleged in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnification will not apply to any liability which has been caused by PCL's gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not apply to any of the following losses, costs, damages or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not apply to losses, claims, damages, demands or suits that are partially arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any employee of Client Person, whether or not such is alleged in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnification will not apply to any liability which has been caused by PCL's

CASE NARRATIVE

EPA 549.2:
Diquat strongly adsorbs to soil particles that are suspended in water. The strong chemical bonds make the herbicide chemically inactive. When bound with soil particles, the extraction procedure for method EPA 549.2 is ineffective at isolating the bound diquat. Any reported diquat represents the dissolved analyte in the water that has not been bound to the soil particles.

The following report contains the results for the one aqueous sample received on July 3, 2018. This sample was analyzed for 2,3,7,8-TCDD by EPA 1613B. Rush 5-day turn-around time was provided for this work.

This work was authorized under Pat-Chem Laboratories' Project # 18F0598.

The report consists of a Cover Letter, Sample Inventory (Section I), Data Summary (Section II), Sample Tracking (Section VI), and Qualifiers/Abbreviations (Section VII). Raw Data (Section III), Continuing Calibration (Section IV), and Initial Calibration (Section V) are available in a full report (.pdf format) upon request.

If you have any questions regarding this report, please feel free to contact me at (916)932-5011.

Laboratory Report

Introduction: This report package contains total of 7 pages divided into 3 sections:

Case Narrative	(2 pages)	: An overview of the work performed at FGL.
Sample Results	(2 pages)	: Results for each sample submitted.
Quality Control	(3 pages)	: Supporting Quality Control (QC) results.

Case Narrative

This Case Narrative pertains to the following samples:

Sample Description	Date Sampled	Date Received	FGL Lab ID #	Matrix
EFF	06/28/2018	06/29/2018	SP 1808558-001	WW

Sampling and Receipt Information: All samples were received in acceptable condition and within temperature requirements, unless noted on the Condition Upon Receipt (CUR) form. All samples arrived on ice. All samples were prepared and analyzed within the method specified hold time. All samples were checked for pH if acid or base preservation is required (except for VOAs). For details of sample receipt information, please see the attached Chain of Custody and Condition Upon Receipt Form.

Quality Control: All samples were prepared and analyzed according to the following tables:

MDA = Minimum Detectable Activity (Calculated at the 95% confidence level) = Data utilized by DHS to determine matrix interference.
MCL / AL = Maximum Contamination Level / Action Level. Alpha's Action Level of 5 pCi/L is based on the Assigned Value (AV).
AV = Assigned Value(Gross Alpha Result + (0.84 x Error)). CCR Section 64442: Drinking Water Compliance Note: Do the following
If Gross Alpha's (AV) exceeds 5 pCi/L run Uranium. If Gross Alpha's (AV) minus Uranium exceeds 5 pCi/L run Radium 226.

Drinking Water Compliance:
Gross Alpha (AV) minus Uranium is less than or equal to 15 pCi/L
Uranium is less than or equal to 20 pCi/L
Radium 226 + Radium 228 is less than or equal to 5 pCi/L

Note: Samples are held for 3-6 months prior to disposal.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments to such which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. All modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its agent for compiling services constitutes the client's agreement as well to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conditions or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the foregoing conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the industry where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 24 Watershield (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the scope and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples strictly proprietary to Client or of Client's request and the results returned by PCL or its agent or subcontractors (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of proprietary information obtained from PCL reports and information provided herein and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client without disclosure to any third party any information concerning technical know-how, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and related expenses including, but not limited to, attorney's fees (the "Losses") asserted and/or payable owing in favor of Client or any third party as a result, and/or in any way occurring, incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from correction, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i.e. liquids, wastes or samples of persons, or loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. environmental of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages and/or claims caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Unidentified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent not covered under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnification will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by Client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other loss including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest, or any other expenses or costs incurred by Client or any other party in any litigation arising or involving PCL or any Indemnified Person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will review samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, batteries or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and pollutants which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab personal analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and price lists.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the work the services were rendered or work was commenced and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients. To establish a history of payment and/or credit, accounts may be established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are turned over for collection and/or are referred to attorneys for suit, proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Provided that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acquiring services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the updating, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client of request. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. For short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must be at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less therefore must be delivered that same day to insure to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weight complaints, delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods may be requested only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

CASE NARRATIVE

EPA 549.2:
Diquat strongly adsorbs to soil particles that are suspended in water. The strong chemical bonds make the herbicide chemically inactive. When bound with soil particles, the extraction procedure for method EPA 549.2 is ineffective at isolating the bound diquat. Any reported diquat represents the dissolved analyte in the water that has not been bound to the soil particles.

The following report contains the results for the one aqueous sample received on July 3, 2018. This sample was analyzed for 2,3,7,8-TCDD by EPA 1613B. Rush 5-day turn-around time was provided for this work.

This work was authorized under Pat-Chem Laboratories' Project # 18F0598.

The report consists of a Cover Letter, Sample Inventory (Section I), Data Summary (Section II), Sample Tracking (Section VI), and Qualifiers/Abbreviations (Section VII). Raw Data (Section III), Continuing Calibration (Section IV), and Initial Calibration (Section V) are available in a full report (.pdf format) upon request.

If you have any questions regarding this report, please feel free to contact me at (916)932-5011.

Sincerely,

James M. Hedin

Laboratory Report

Introduction: This report package contains total of 7 pages divided into 3 sections:

Case Narrative	(2 pages)	: An overview of the work performed at FGL.
Sample Results	(2 pages)	: Results for each sample submitted.
Quality Control	(3 pages)	: Supporting Quality Control (QC) results.

Case Narrative

This Case Narrative pertains to the following samples:

Sample Description	Date Sampled	Date Received	FGL Lab ID #	Matrix
EFF	06/28/2018	06/29/2018	SP 1808558-001	WW

Sampling and Receipt Information: All samples were received in acceptable condition and within temperature requirements, unless noted on the Condition Upon Receipt (CUR) form. All samples arrived on ice. All samples were prepared and analyzed within the method specified hold time. All samples were checked for pH if acid or base preservation is required (except for VOAs). For details of sample receipt information, please see the attached Chain of Custody and Condition Upon Receipt Form.

Quality Control: All samples were prepared and analyzed according to the following tables:

ND=Non-Detected. PQL=Practical Quantitation Limit. * PQL adjusted for dilution.

MDA = Minimum Detectable Activity (Calculated at the 95% confidence level) = Data utilized by DHS to determine matrix interference.
MCL / AL = Maximum Contamination Level / Action Level. Alpha's Action Level of 5 pCi/L is based on the Assigned Value (AV).
AV = Assigned Value(Gross Alpha Result + (0.84 x Error)). CCR Section 64442: Drinking Water Compliance Note: Do the following
If Gross Alpha's (AV) exceeds 5 pCi/L run Uranium. If Gross Alpha's (AV) minus Uranium exceeds 5 pCi/L run Radium 226.

Drinking Water Compliance:
Gross Alpha (AV) minus Uranium is less than or equal to 15 pCi/L
Uranium is less than or equal to 20 pCi/L
Radium 226 + Radium 228 is less than or equal to 5 pCi/L

Note: Samples are held for 3-6 months prior to disposal.

Definition
LRS	: Laboratory Recovery Standard - Prepared to establish the batch recovery factor used in result calculations.
MS	: Matrix Spikes - A random sample is spiked with a known amount of analyte. The recoveries are an indication of how that sample matrix affects analyte recovery.
MSD	: Matrix Spike Duplicate of MS/MSD pair - A random sample duplicate is spiked with a known amount of analyted. The recoveries are an indication of how that sample matrix affects analyte recovery.
BS	: Blank Spikes - A blank is spiked with a known amount of analyte. It is prepared to verify that the preparation process is not affecting analyte recovery.
BSD	: Blank Spike Duplicate of BS/BSD pair - A blank duplicate is spiked with a known amount of analyte. It is prepared to verify that the preparation process is not affecting analyte recovery.
MSRPD	: MS/MSD Relative Percent Difference (RPD) - The MS relative percent difference is an indication of precision for the preparation and analysis.
BSRPD	: BS/BSD Relative Percent Difference (RPD) - The BS relative percent difference is an indication of precision for the preparation and analysis.
ND	: Non-detect - Result was below the DQO listed for the analyte.
DQO	: Data Quality Objective - This is the criteria against which the quality control data is compared.
Explanation
435	: Sample matrix may be affecting this analyte. Data was accepted based on the LCS or CCV recovery.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments to such which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. All modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its agent for compiling services constitutes the client's agreement as well to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conditions or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the foregoing conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the industry where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 24 Watershield (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the scope and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples strictly proprietary to Client or of Client's request and the results returned by PCL or its agent or subcontractors (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for inadvertent disclosure of proprietary information obtained from PCL reports and information provided herein and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client without disclosure to any third party any information concerning technical know-how, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and related expenses including, but not limited to, attorney's fees (the "Losses") asserted and/or payable owing in favor of Client or any third party as a result, and/or in any way occurring, incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from correction, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i.e. liquids, wastes or samples of persons, or loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. environmental of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages and/or claims caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Unidentified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent not covered under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnification will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by Client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other loss including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest, or any other expenses or costs incurred by Client or any other party in any litigation arising or involving PCL or any Indemnified Person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will review samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, batteries or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and pollutants which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab personal analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and price lists.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the work the services were rendered or work was commenced and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients. To establish a history of payment and/or credit, accounts may be established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are turned over for collection and/or are referred to attorneys for suit, proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Provided that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acquiring services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not transmitted, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the updating, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client of request. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. For short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must be at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less therefore must be delivered that same day to insure to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weight complaints, delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods may be requested only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor to perform all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined above) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No additional or different terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Party and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written order (including faxed or PCL-Net order) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No oral or written terms and conditions submitted in a client's purchase order shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods/SM of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL to officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same, and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

10. Hold Harmless

Client recognizes and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees (the obligation to indemnify and defend shall survive termination of this agreement) asserted by or awarded to any person or entity, including client, on account of personal injury, death or damage to property arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services under this agreement, to the extent such liability is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. For purposes of indemnity, such responsibility shall include claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in any action with the negligence or presence of, caused by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) or client's expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, claims or proceeding PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of delivery of the services (which may change at any time), unless otherwise agreed upon in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is due upon receipt of invoice, unless credit terms have been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment shall be net thirty (30) days from the date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, all invoices not paid by applicable due date shall accrue interest at the rate of thirty (30) days or subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. Delayed amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to agency fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client in receiving services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, interpretation or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to solicit capital, connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any variable or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional such fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not supply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data while such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereon are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption), Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date(s) services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is due as soon as each analysis is completed is received for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with a established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of this (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding time and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliverys, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. An acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of this contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 waterboard (EGAD), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employers or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples analyzed by them or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence. Unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain, or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports. Prior to dissemination, Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to, court fees, litigation & investigation and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, illness or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, physical or financial or property and/or 3. business loss of every kind of character. This indemnification applies to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to costs, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence – or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) irrespective of whether such damages or other loss (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and / or pre or post judgment interest), or any action asserted or cost incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL in any way whatsoever pertaining in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Material"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all potential analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's Acceptable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or for a history of payment and/or credit acceptable to PCL. For those clients with established credit accounts, the terms for payment of invoices are NET 30 days unless otherwise specified on the face of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law at the time and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third-Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for the use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is creating services hereunder for his/her own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third-party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third parties may rely on any data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and report are not to be used, or shown or cited to, relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, and periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or consulting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 4pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at our lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less or same day receipt must be reviewed that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. Airline issues, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods may be requested by client. Prearrangements for storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 5pm on weekdays without prior modification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours of allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-3 days, samples must arrive at the lab, within 2 days before expiration to ensure that the holding time is met. Short Holding Times, of 48 hours or less (such as pH), samples must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of the fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling may be accounted an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Orders & Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No consumer or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of performance in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereto shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the collection which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public at the public domain or client was also to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any to a lawful required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all actions, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and other liabilities including, but not limited to all court fees, and litigation costs, and attorneys fees arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, sickness or death of persons, 2. injury, damage to, loss of, or theft of property, and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity does not specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions or suits, fines and charges arising out of or in connection with the negligence of the Environmental Laboratory or any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the Client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees prior to such judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or an product provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or treated as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (together now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that the hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis of potential analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations on the date the services were rendered or such prices as may be later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of client analysis or assignment is required for all new clients or where history of payment and/or credit account has not been established with PCL. For client with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are net 30 days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amounts unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the past due balance. If unpaid amounts are referred for collection proceedings or suit, all reasonable client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees in addition. fees associated with such collection proceedings.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports for purposes PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to publish, or shall be used to induce reliance in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or syndication of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with a director or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times. Without applying any surcharge. For tests holding time of 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hour before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Time (STHT) tests or less (bacteria) material must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been outlined on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allowed for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accepted an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer in accordance with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its station of sampling services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions contained on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract formed upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 64 Waterbourne (EIAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, existing out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform for services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Except and the extent necessary to perform its services hereunder, PCL shall not disclose to any third party any information regarding Client's business, including but not limited to, the results obtained by PCL shall be kept confidential. Information which is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client can be required by PCL for all services rendered or to otherwise in pursuit of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and materials, but shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such disclosure could not be prevented by the exercise of such care. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other deliverables.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and awards, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, or in any way relating, incident to arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. In many circumstances, death of persons, injury, damage to, loss or destruction of property or other harmful acts of every kind and character, the indemnification set forth above with respect to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of and in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client may otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the fullest extent permitted under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity and hold harmless obligations will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be at the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees are as per judgment interest, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person or connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the aforesaid party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide, and PCL will receive samples or materials for analysis which is or contains flammable, explosive, radioactive or other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (as either now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous substances. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for microbiological analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect on the date of acceptance of the date the services were rendered or samples received and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or client analysis is completed is required for all new clients or unsatisfactory payment and/or credit status. Net 30 days terms are established with PCL for those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to payment at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Except for subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for the use of or reliance on data, information, or reports by any PCL Client is receiving services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the investment, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the shareholders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to all samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-2 days, samples must be in the lab within 24 hours before exposure to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as 24 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any additions or amendments hereto which are accepted in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including or sampling services and his, its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (or defined services) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which shall govern the transaction. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client shall order services by submitting a written Work Request (WO) to PCL. Any such order constitutes (i) an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and (ii) an agreement to be bound by those terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or authorization of consulting services constitutes the Client's agreement to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions shall be valid unless agreed to by PCL in writing. Client's acceptance of the services is expressly limited to acceptance of the Terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standard of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Clearinghouse of Labs (CLP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastes and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for the services or materials rendered. Any passages in the contract or any client purchase orders or contracts

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, which are placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence. Unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and client will be responsible for reasonably safeguarding disclosure of said data which is held standard use. However, PCL reports and information is considered property of the customer, use and benefit of client and shall not be released by PCL to anyone other than client without client's prior written consent. Client agrees not to disclose PCL information, including price lists, data, reports, or its test programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and other settlement including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the "Claims") now held and hereafter arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting from or flowing out of or in connection with the performance of this agreement and the services provided by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, including, but not limited to, Claims for personal injury, illness or death of persons, loss of, damage to, injury to, or loss of use of property and/or any and all consequences of every kind of character. This indemnity provision applies to any of the foregoing Claims made against PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, parent, subsidiaries or affiliates, whether or not caused in part by the active or passive negligence or other fault of PCL or its employees. To the extent that this indemnity provision may be unenforceable for any reason, client agrees to make the maximum contribution to the payment and satisfaction of each Claim which is permissible under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) or other expenses or damages (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and fees and costs of expert witnesses), or any other damages in each instance to client or any other party or any person or entity claiming through client or any other party, in any way related to this agreement or the performance or breach hereof, whether such claim is based upon contract, tort (including sole, concurrent or other negligence and strict liability of PCL or any of its employees, officers, directors, agents, parent, subsidiaries or affiliates), or otherwise, even if PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages and even if such damages were reasonably foreseeable. Client's sole and exclusive remedy for any breach of this agreement by PCL or any of its employees, officers, directors, agents, parent, subsidiaries or affiliates shall be limited to the amount paid by client to PCL for the services provided under this agreement which is directly related to the breaching party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples that are hazardous substances (as defined by applicable federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations) whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated, or any potential or additional physical characteristics of any thing, if the "Hazardous Materials" listed or understood and agreed that the hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of Client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples associated by client in the PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not agree to its prompt disposition of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical laboratory analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of acceptance of the order for services which is incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof. Prices are subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is required in any case for all new clients unless credit authority or terms of payment have been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law or any applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees in addition to any unpaid amounts, collection costs or other.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if executed by an officer of PCL and the client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and understood that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to receive, or shall be used by, in connection with or part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or participation of any securities, any panels or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, investment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification for contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-10 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours for PCL even able to insure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Nutrients) or failure must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been entered on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, must be accounted for.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto, either executed or agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity obtaining the analytical laboratory services, products, or materials pursuant to these Terms and Conditions, whether by its employees, agents, and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule in effect from time to time, as may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and is willing to accept orders for services only on the terms and conditions contained in these Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate these Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written shall of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the Terms and conditions and Client agreement to be bound by these Terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms and conditions appearing on any Client's document shall be deemed to change or be a part of the parties' agreement regarding any of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use such test methodology as which are in accord with the protocols set forth in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Interstate Technology & Regulatory Council (ITRC), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM), or the equivalent, or where and if/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or as otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made in a manner consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or the QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL to Client, agents, employees, or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same, and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Client and the sample matrix as provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or unless PCL is compelled or required by law to disclose such information. PCL shall provide the name(s) of client's agent(s) authorized to receive such data and shall not be responsible for any unauthorized disclosure of such data which occurs after such data is released to such agent(s). PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees that there will be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client agrees to indemnify and hold PCL any information concerning such information or PCL's services or other transactions.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and costs and expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and court costs, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way relating, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, and specifically transportation, handling or disposal of such hazardous materials. In claims, losses or damages (whether personal injury, property damage or economic loss) which result from the negligence of any party or parties, including PCL, Client agrees that every such party shall bear such proportion of the total liability as is fair and reasonable under the circumstances. Further, this indemnity shall not be valid to the extent claims, losses and damages arising out of or resulting from the negligence of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not be valid to the extent claims, losses and damages arising out of or resulting from the negligence of Client or its employees, agents or representatives. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and not in lieu of any other indemnities set forth in this agreement or in any other agreement between Client and PCL. Client agrees that PCL shall not be liable to Client for any consequential damages, including without limitation, loss of profits, business interruption, loss of use, revenue or actual or anticipated profits (including loss of profits on contracts), loss by reason of shutdown in operation and/or increased expenses of operation, cost of capital, cost of substitute facilities, goods or services, or claims of customers of Client for such damages incurred by them or any of them, whether based upon breach of contract, tort (including negligence), strict liability, indemnity, contribution, or otherwise, even if PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages. Client agrees that PCL's liability for any and all claims, losses, or damages arising out of any of the services performed hereunder, or from the performance thereof, shall in no case exceed the charges allowed and specified in this agreement for the services performed under this agreement. Client's sole and exclusive remedy against PCL for any such claims, losses or damages shall be the payment of not more than such charges. Client agrees that all potential claims, losses and damages must be asserted against PCL within one (1) year after the completion of the services hereunder or Client's claim shall be deemed waived and barred.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by Client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis, such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, biological and other hazardous or toxic materials, which are and will/can only be properly determined or considered as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL's policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any petition or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any Hazardous Material received by PCL from Client or at Client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as directed by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical purposes will not be returned to Client or a sample deposited into user sample submittal in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Clients must pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the order for the services and/or of written price quotation if later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or other security is required for all new clients or clients with a history of payment problems or who cannot be credit checked with PCL. For those clients with an established payment account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law or equity, a reasonable late payment charge of one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance, or the maximum rate permitted by law, whichever is less, will be added to any invoice not paid within thirty (30) days from the date of invoice. In the event it becomes necessary to employ attorneys or collection agencies or to institute legal proceedings or to file a claim, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees in addition to any amounts owed in connection with such collection procedure or claim.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective and binding only when signed by an officer of PCL and by Client (or Client's representative). Except as to payment terms for which only be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client's testing services hereunder are for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other capacity. Client acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and client hereby agrees that no one other than client will rely on data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that any data, information and reports are not published, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, conveyance, or distribution of any securities. Any payment or other reporting to the holders of any existing, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or compliance with directives of investors, and governmental agencies or departments.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, in any circumstances, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeding in cases of samples that are received for weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive with ample hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All rush holding times, i.e. 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours prior to expiration to enable the holding time to be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria & toxicity) must be delivered the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. Saturdays, late deliveries, traffic congestion, delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the application date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by mutual only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All your upcoming test have been initiated on the due schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional or other terms which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may receive laboratory services, consulting or sampling services, and his or his heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined hereinafter) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written order (WO) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the Terms and Conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL is indicative of accepting services' conditions by the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions contained in a client's order shall be deemed to become a part of the client's contract upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the requested services in accordance with the normal standards of care/standards of the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 14 Watertboard (CLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample(s) or substrate based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, or any one of all of its connection to the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the aggregate amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is in public domain or client has told or has given PCL permission to disclose same in connection with the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in connection with its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports are submitted on possible interpretations for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning chemical information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the "Losses") asserted and awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way wholly or partially resulting out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or from contribution, breaching or incorrect client's hazardous materials, injury, damage or death of persons, loss of, damage to, or use of real or personal property and/or 2. resulting from any and all claims, demands, suits, actions, or judgments based solely on the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to forties, claims damages, actions, of every kind and character, including but not limited to, those arising out of bodily injury, death, property damage, in connection with the negligence of PCL's employees, agents and subcontracted forces, which are alleged to be due to the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to, and not limited to, all rights of indemnity or contribution which PCL and the other parties hereto may have by statute, common law or otherwise. To the extent this indemnity and/or hold harmless agreement is unenforceable, client will be supported by insurance policy, insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption), litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and/or pre- or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation, action or involving PCL or any other employee or in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples made up for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances, who is not defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and shall upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify it's preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of tested samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of quotation or on the date the services were rendered or such prices given and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or client credit completed is required for all new clients or until a history to support credit can be accounts have been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month and/or equivalent rate. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on an existing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent verbal additional services may be agreed to in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is obtaining services from PCL for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not represented, or shall be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or participation in any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any securities, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any mortgage institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with governmental or quasi-governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered or received after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours (4 days) to PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. For any holding times of 48 hours or less (bacteria), hand must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by renewal only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been outlined on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for all pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, including its employees, servants, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in rendering its services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may place services by submitting a written order or instruction to PCL. Any such order or instruction is an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and as an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of compelling services constitutes the Client's unequivocal assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions even made in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services to conform with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession. Where appropriate, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Government (USGP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services not withstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable PCL Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the service materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered as otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data where such disclosure was allowed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning PCL's methodologies, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and shareholder expenses including, but not limited to all costs from litigations, investigations and services arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to the agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. In no event shall PCL be liable to client or any third party for any consequential, incidental or punitive damages, including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption. Litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and interest on post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as penalty provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples or materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances as which are defined, enumerated or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all successful analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission of the order for the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance may be required or collected if required for all new clients or clients requiring a change of payment and/or billing procedures established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are net 7 Days within thirty (30) days from the date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted or as may be required by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the rate of the lesser of (a) one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month or the highest amount permitted by law. Amounts not paid when due may be collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, in which case reasonable costs and attorney's fees will be added to the amount owed, including collection costs and court fees, if any.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by duly authorized representative. Except for subsequent orders for additional services may be placed orally or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or servant, or in any other representation capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or shall not be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or concerning any of the foregoing, or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. For short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as 24 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to ensure holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the modification date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been rotated on to the schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for travel, pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may accept services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order (or its receipt) or acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with Client under the terms and conditions and / or agreements to be issued by these Terms and constitutes the Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of requesting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions shall bind or a Client's payment shall be deemed acceptance of the services created upon examination of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4 Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the general standards of workmanship in the profession, which shall mean PCL will use analytical methodologies which are substantially consistent with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), EPA Waterside and [illegible], American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be noted on a case-by-case basis in the recognized standard of laboratory and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

When PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assisting PCL of the same and all information required to exercise PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder without its approval for all services rendered and out of pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Each and the sample materials provided by client on behalf of client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public at the time the public domain or client has told to pay PCL for all services rendered. It is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and materials be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data which uses standard use, dispersal. PCL reserves any information provided hereto, and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that shall not make early, beneficial use of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning proposed form, software configuration or sample formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including but not limited to attorneys fees, judgments, fines and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous substance, toxic substance or waste, including death of persons, loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property, and for any and all of every kind (collectively "Claims"). The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing Claims solely and to the extent they are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, losses, damages, actions of every kind and charges arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any person, first person, who then actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The following indemnities will in addition to any statute which may exist in favor of PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent permitted by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity and obligation will be supported by a one hazardous liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with limits not less than $[illegible] in the aggregate annually per client, which shall name PCL as an additional insured. Client shall not be liable for any consequential, punitive, special, indirect or incidental damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like or any judgement, interest, or any other expenses to costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified persons in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement except if caused by the gross negligence of the indemnified party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete information for analyses such as: safe data, pollution control, chemicals, hazardous waste substances which are delivered, transported or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any failure to provide material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall relieve the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples at specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify it's preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any lab per trial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations (or in case the services were provided in whole or in part during and upon completion of the work). PCL may from time to time change its price schedule at any time without notice. Payment for all services rendered and expenses incurred shall be due and payable in full upon receipt of invoice or as otherwise agreed to in writing between PCL and Client, or if credit has been established with PCL, for those clients with a established credit account, payments for payment of invoices are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices, to the fullest extent permitted by law and applicable law, any amount unpaid or disputed for thirty (30) days thereafter shall bear interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents, fees, associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or trustee, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to relied upon in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the SEC or any similar, the vesting, amendment, removal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or instrumentality.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"These Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including any price schedules, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the applicable customer receiving laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) then-existing price schedule or rate document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL act[illegible] as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following terms and conditions (collectively the "Terms"). These Terms constitute a binding agreement including which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and of PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written order of intent to (SOI) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound to these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or solicitation of [illegible] services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or additional terms and conditions appearing in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the agreement created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "analysis" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including preparation of all reports and materials to be furnished to PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the testing standards prescribed by the profession where applicable. PCL will utilize analytical methodologies which are recognized by competent authorities (e.g. the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Water Board (EPA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies). PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature of composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC protocol. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for sensitivity to and about the sampling site and the advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and effectively.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and test reports relating to analysis performed for clients at client's request and the results contained in PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or [illegible] law or by PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in connection with the agreement. Subject to any disclosure required by lawful or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data when such disclosure was required. PCL reports and information prepared thereon are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client against whom shall be no third party beneficiaries or such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any data or information resulting from such analysis, software programs or other services.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against all costs or liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees, the litigation expenses and reasonable attorneys' fees of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way arising in respect to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL or pursuant to, yet expressly excluding, liabilities, damages or expenses to the extent caused by the negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, [illegible] shall specifically agree to forever, [illegible] indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all claims, demands, causes of action, suits, losses, damages and liabilities of every kind and character. This indemnity shall apply to any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, demands, or causes of action asserted by any [illegible] or [illegible] in connection with the negligence or omission of PCL or its employees, whether active or passive, in the performance of [illegible] services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will not extend to or indemnify PCL for its own negligence or willful misconduct. In the event that PCL is found to be liable to client for any reason, including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, [illegible] expenses or other items including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or [illegible] judgment amounts, or any other amounts or costs incurred by client or any third party in any litigation against, or involving PCL or any officer, employee or consultant in connection with this agreement or its services performed under this agreement, even if PCL is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as soil, [illegible] shipments, bacteria or any other [illegible] of hazardous materials, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official or administrative interpretation of any thereof) (the "Hazardous Substances") and services that are hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and, upon normal completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples or specimens by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for [illegible] analysis shall also be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of submission on the date the services were rendered or such prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of client analysis is considered a required for all new clients or where a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET [illegible] days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted [illegible] by applicable law, any amount unpaid on the [illegible] days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or [illegible] per month (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection procedure or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

[illegible] modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only if in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and its client's authorized representative, except that [illegible] contain for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of use, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and for or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written shall of full order (SOO) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or invitation of consulting services constitutes the client's assent to and to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and the PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereon, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder, subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform hereinafore pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by or on behalf of Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has tried to pay PCL for all services rendered or in otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reserves and intentionally preserves and for the exclusive use and benefit of client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such respect. Use of information, Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other technologies.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees, investigation, expenses and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement (and/or the presence on, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, if any). Release or death of person, or loss of, damage to, or injury to any kind of property, and/or 3. incomplete loss of every kind of property. This indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions or suits that are brought arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary or the applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for direct, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other loss (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and/or pre-and post-judgment interest), or any other indirect, or your incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples material for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, batteries or any other hazardous or noncombustible, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any revision or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify it's preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bulk analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and price lists.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quotes and rates confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in accordance of which an invoice is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of prompt and/or cyclic payment has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account. The terms for payment of charges are net 30 calendar days (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If account amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees in accordance with established and customary procedures or statute.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Verbal (but subsequent) orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client in securing services has relied for its own purposes, and not to report or benefit, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or party. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not to be used, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the verification to or communication with agencies or instructions, any governmental agencies or departments.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying excess surcharge. For most holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to assure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (chemical) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, weather conditions, delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Remote storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including any case schedule, and any terms or amendments to the same which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the customer or entity who may receive laboratory services, including entering services and quotations, agreements, work plans and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

All orders are subject to these terms for services (or deliverables). Any additional or different terms and conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms include, apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modification to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written purchase order (PO) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to be bound by the Terms under the terms and conditions and all agreements are bound by these Terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery or delivery to PCL's facilities of samples constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any verbal or additional terms and conditions submitted by a Client's document shall be deemed to be modified a part of the contract - related communications of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "conduct" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be provided by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care prevailing in the profession where applicable. PCL will conduct tests or analyses which are in accordance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Department of Labor (DOL), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), these, state of Illinois Statutory Chemists (SSOFC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the professional judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or the DAQOC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided hereto, whether such liability is based on breach of contract, tort (including negligence), strict liability or otherwise, shall not exceed the amount paid by Client for the services rendered hereunder. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information and conditions as may be necessary for PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and cost of goods and services incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and signed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for failure or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is publicly available or the public or the public. Except as provided for herein or by PCL for an express business or in connection or breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and studies for responsible for unauthorized disclosure of information provided hereunder by client. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiaries or such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning PCL's business affairs, software, customer list or pricing.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses, damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses including, but not limited to all costs from the negligence, omissions and wrongful conduct of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way directly incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or the presence, existence or disposal of any hazardous materials, unless caused by the sole negligence or breach of contract of any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will include, but not be limited to, which the client might incur, pay or become obligated to pay, and any and all losses or expenses whatsoever incurred by client or asserted against client by any third party, including, without limitation, reasonable attorney's fees, court costs and costs of appeal, and any and all expenses incurred by client in enforcing any judgment in favor of client against any party, and any and all costs incurred by client or asserted against client in connection with this agreement or the services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL's disposal of the samples requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive complete information for analytical work to be done, and chlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, regulations or requirements (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that, upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples or specified by client or by PCL's DAQOC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for aerobic bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our DAQOC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of quotation for the date(s) services were performed or work products issued and been performed in writing. The price schedules subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is considered required for all new clients or those clients or projects where credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of all invoices are CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to PCL. For associated with such collection, proceedings or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and no claims based on representations, verbal or subsequent actions for additional services may be served at in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services to manage its own assets, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third-party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with, or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, and periodic or other reporting in the nature of any periodic, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or communicating with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal policy will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or other non-workdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 days or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All tests having a 2-3 days, samples must arrive at the lab, within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, pH, etc.) should be addressed immediately in order to ensure holding times are met. After hours, late receipts, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods by request only. Prolonged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the prearranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional agreements or terms which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who has requested laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and any and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein and only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and is an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's unqualified assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional or different terms and conditions appearing on a client's document shall be deemed to constitute a part of the contract, except upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are substantially consistent with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLIP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC) Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the conditions which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Each and the sample matrices provided by Client or at Client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or must be disclosed to perform PCL services or pursuant to enforcement of this agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. Each party shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL's reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client shall not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software processes or other confidences.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the "Litigation") asserted and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement, except from gross negligence or intentional misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, and without limitation, Client specifically agrees to release, absolve, indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL from any and all claims, damages, actions or suits of any kind and nature, including cost of clean up or cost recovery, with the exception of those caused by the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to and not in lieu of any other rights that we have in PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent not expressly prohibited by applicable law, Client agrees that any indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which coverage shall, to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, exemplary, special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) even if such damages or costs were foreseeable, attorney's fees, court costs and costs of pre- or post-judgment interests, or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any third party, arising out of or resulting PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as otherwise provided under this agreement, even if PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL's work from the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples or materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, pathogens or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at the client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos (asbestos analysis) client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operation at the time the services were scheduled or with prices quoted and taken / confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or clients's history of payment and/or credit issues has not been established with PCL. Surplus to clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET (A) within thirty (30) days from date of invoices, to the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. Unpaid accounts are collected by legal proceedings or by an attorney. The client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents, fees associated with such collection activities and expenses.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective and enforceable only if set out in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and the client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acquiring services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that all work and any reports, or work, data, information or reports, Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not relied on or used by or relied upon, in connection with or part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, syndication or valuation of any securities, any personal or other property, by the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the participation in or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any sample being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times, without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab, within 24 hours before we are able to ensure that the holding time can be met. Short Holding Times for all bacteriological tests (bacteria in Potable Water) are processed immediately upon receipt to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, courier company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is for request only. Prolonged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be disposed of at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed as additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any exhibits or addenda hereto, which are agreed upon in writing by Client. "Client" means the individual or entity who has placed the order for, requested a quote for, or is receiving services from PCL. "Services" means the analytical testing, sampling, consulting, data validation, interpretation, and reporting services to be provided by PCL as described in the applicable Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) quotation and price schedule, as such services may be amended or modified from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services only on the terms and conditions set forth in the following Standard Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client have signed a separate agreement covering the same subject matter as these Terms. Any modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written Chain of Custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the Terms and Conditions and the Client agrees to be bound by those Terms and Conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or authorization for sampling services to proceed by the Client expressly assents to the Terms and Conditions. No additional or different terms and conditions proposed by Client shall be deemed to be part of the contract unless specifically agreed to in writing by PCL.

The term "Project" as used in these Terms and Conditions shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including production of all documents and information to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care and diligence of the profession (where applicable). PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA WaterReuse (CASA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the professional judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs), and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the Client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for the services (all without limiting any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts).

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the completion of the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether preceded in writing or verbally except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its obligations pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample information supplied by the client or Client's designee and the reports delivered by PCL shall be held in confidence by each party, except to the extent required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information are provided solely for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not rely upon any third party representations, findings, interpretations, opinions, positions or other information.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent companies from and against any and all liabilities, losses, or damages, claims, demands, suits, causes of action, costs and reasonable expenses, including but not limited to attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and defense costs in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way relating, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or subsequent orders, including any alleged negligent, intentional, or strictly statutory acts or omissions of PCL, its employees, agents, subcontractors, or anyone for whom PCL is legally responsible, and/or any breach of this agreement by PCL, except to the extent that any such claim, loss, damage, action or expense is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to, but not be limited to, claims brought against or asserted by Client in connection with the performance of services under this agreement, which claims are based in whole or in part upon the alleged negligent or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Client's duty to indemnify, defend and hold harmless PCL shall survive the termination of this agreement.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples, materials for analyses such as samples, contaminated ingredients, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of such) (collectively "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL in connection with client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bulk analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client must pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of quotation or on the date the services were rendered or such prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is required for all new clients or until a history of acceptable credit terms has been established with PCL. For client clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, by any method, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate allowed by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agent's fees established with such collection proceedings or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is creating no rights hereunder for its agents, employees, or representatives, or for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement. Client shall not make public any of PCL's data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or shall not be used to rely upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or syndication of any obligation, any pending or other negotiations for the transfer of any security, the securing of any loan, any financial contribution or other lender or the certification to or compliance with specific or unspecific, any governmental agency or requirement.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded for any of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Most of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without penalty. Exceptions may be given holding times of 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before extra work to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria or 15 hours) must be delivered same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for 30 days (60 days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Prearranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each visit or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any amendments or supplements which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who or which requests services, products or samples pertinent and for or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means the Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall apply if PCL and the Client have not executed a separate agreement in writing with terms addressing identical terms. All modifications to the Terms that are in conflict and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written change of request to PCL. Any such order constitutes an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the Terms and Conditions and PCL will proceed to be bound by these Terms and Conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions submitted by a client's response shall be deemed to form a part of the contract absent a written acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed by the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of experimentation in the profession and/or application. PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 2 Westborough (ITSAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if conditions or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or as otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the lesser of $500 or amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a price order bid for payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for proper notice and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and effectively.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of each client order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are overridden in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and/or samples furnished by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public at the time public release or client has filed or pay PCL for all services rendered in connection herewith or the agreement subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of such data while such data is in transit. All reports and information provided hereto shall be the exclusive use and benefit of client and shall not be used by PCL without written consent of client. Upon request, data or information, client will not disclose to any third party any information regarding technical information, methods, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and proceedings, expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees, investigation expenses and court costs, arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or representations, failure to perform, or client's failure to fulfill any duties, illness or death of persons, loss of, damage to, loss of use of property of any kind or character. This indemnification applies to any of the foregoing claims, suits, damages, or judgments caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, liability, damages, actions of every kind and description arising out of or in connection with the negligence or alleged negligence of PCL or any independent person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of service under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any rights to which the above parties may be entitled at law, and the other rights of the parties. In the event that laws under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be subject only to the extent of client's liability as allowed under law. Client agrees to be furnished by client, all of the above shall be to the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for consequential, punitive, special, incidental or compensatory damages including, without limitation, lost profits or business interruption losses or other losses including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or any other judgment interest, or any other expenses of any kind incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any person that participates in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement except claims of the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (collectively "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request, shall remain the property of client and, upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis become client's property. Client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted. In accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the work. All services were rendered at such prices quoted and client authorized in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. A surcharge is assessed on all analysis accomplished or required for all new clients or upon a history of delayed and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH upon Submittal. All days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days shall accrue interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.50%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are submitted through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client must pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to accept fees associated with each collection proceeding as billed.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only when in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and the client. Authorized reports of any kind that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports for other by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own benefit, and not as agent or broker, or in any representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be relied on or used to result upon in connection with or as part of the purchasing, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, and intends to or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, arrangement, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL should be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be developed prior to any sampling performed by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours, before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short holding times of 48 hours or less for bacteria must be delivered the same day of collection to guarantee holding time is met. After hours, late delivery, weight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fee and/or the ability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the storage period unless otherwise requested.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein and only on the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms and Conditions apply to PCL and the client and shall prevail in the event of any conflict with any terms and conditions contained in any purchase order or other document submitted by the client. PCL's failure to object to provisions contained in any purchase order or other document submitted by the client shall not be deemed a waiver of PCL's rights or the client's obligations under these Terms and Conditions. No additional or different terms and conditions proposed by the client shall be binding unless agreed to in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may place orders by submitting a written draft of each of the [QQC] to PCL does both orally communicate, in accordance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or in addition of submitting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No additional terms and conditions proposed by a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract, and PCL's acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of performance in the profession where applicable. PCL will use such commercially reasonable efforts to comply with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Occupational Health Administration (OSHA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods Committee, Association of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized testing bodies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors or assigns arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition in which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services prior to receipt of report by payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform its obligations pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the identity of samples tested by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such data is otherwise generally available to the public or is in the public domain, provided that PCL may disclose information in connection with the performance of this agreement subject to any applicable law, required by law or legal process, or including the extent necessary in order to enforce its rights hereunder. Prior to disclosure of such data other than pursuant to subpoena, PCL agrees to give client reasonable notice of such disclosure. Client will not disclose trade secret, proprietary information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases, defends, indemnifies, protects and holds PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages (actual, consequential, punitive, or other forms and interest and reasonable attorneys' fees and expenses) to all third parties (the "obligations and fees") and pending litigation (each of clause (a) and third party, as a result of, and/or in any way arising, incidental to, growing out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's samples and materials, or misrepresentation or death of persons, injury, damage to, loss of, or theft or use of property, and/or 3. Failure on the part of client of any kind of character. The client agrees to defend, indemnify and hold harmless PCL from and against any and all of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, and attorneys' fees caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees, agents, representatives, or subcontractors. Client's obligations under this section shall survive the termination of this agreement. Client's failure to notify PCL of any claim or liability hereunder shall not relieve client of its obligations hereunder except to the extent that such failure to notify results in the forfeiture by PCL of rights and defenses necessary to defend such claim or liability. Client's obligations under this section shall survive the termination of this agreement.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, it may be possible and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, EPA policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous materials received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or its PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify in preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current Sample Disposal Policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis are property of PCL. Client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and such confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or after analysis is commenced is required for all new clients or upon a history of delayed and/or unpaid accounts. Client with an established credit account and terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by or set by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to collect. Fees associated with such collection should not be added.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that price quotes subject for additional services may be varied by oral quote.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use, misuse or loss of data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client in requesting services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity, for any other person or entity, it is affirmed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that such data, information and reports are not represented, or shall be used to report upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any warrant or other instrument by the holders of any security, the servicing, entitlement, renewal, or extension of any loan by any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with persons or individuals, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analysis are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. Lists of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (< 7 days), samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (Ferrous) or 24 hours must be approved prior to sampling to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, rush services, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional cost fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, addenda, exhibits or amendments hereto to which we agree to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity, whether a recipient laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) current price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed on a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract except upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 25 Watershield (EAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to the agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Both and the Sample material provided hereunder or as part thereof and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is in the public domain or Client has had legal duty for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure despite the same such standard was utilized. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of Client and Client agrees that shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, equipment, or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, partners, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, costs and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys fees (the Liabilities) asserted and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way connected, incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i.e. injury, disease or death of persons 2. actual damage to real or personal property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing Liabilities, costs, damages or losses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions or proceedings of whatever nature arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be on a sole, in any capacity which the client shall indemnify, defend, hold PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that as indemnity obligation will be applicable by an excess liability insurance policy age or carried by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum coverage amounts permitted under applicable law, or be waived client. Be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, consequential or exemplary damages (including without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and cost of pre-judgment interest), or any other expenses or claim incurred by client or any third party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (collectively "Laws") existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for aerobic bacterial analysis. Client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or date the services were rendered or with prices in quote and never contained in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment must be made in cash, check or credit card is required for all services or prior to delivery of payment and/or credit agreement being established with PCL. For client's with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law of one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amount is collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees, agents' fees, associated with such collection action and/or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by Client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is procuring services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. Client agrees and acknowledges that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party (such Data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of any purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the SEC or any similar, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If for any unforeseen reason, the turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. For analyses with holding times of 72 hours or less, samples must arrive within 24 hours to allow PCL to reject holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (i.e. 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before we are able to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria, 24 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall or deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, illness or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and pre or post judgment interest)), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with a established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except (i) subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of Any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on week days without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applicable rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria) 48 hours must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliverys, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request sample delivery services, consulting or sampling services and his or her/its/their successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance of the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or utilization of consulting services constitutes the client's consent and agreement to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract only upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care/ethics in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample(s) otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and raw sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) (collectively, the "Losses") asserted by or awarded arising in favor of Client or any third party, whether resulted, and/or in any way occurring, incident to, arising out of or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, loss of use of or destruction of property and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. The foregoing does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages or liabilities caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, the indemnity shall specifically apply to client's claims, damages, losses of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (sole or concurrent) or by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which the client might otherwise have at PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary, under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be maintained by client, which insurance shall be in such minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for direct, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like or costs incurred by client or any other party to any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person or connection with this agreement or the services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party).

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples or materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (as the same now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis for metal analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of performance of the services. Price schedules are subject to change at any time without notice. Payment is due upon analysis completed if required for client's work or upon a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law, all sums not paid when due, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the non-prevailing party reasonable attorney's fees, costs and expenses incurred with such collection activities.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be in writing and signed by an officer of PCL. Only persons authorized (expressly or implied) to solicit orders for laboratory services may be valid or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, and any other representative retained by any other person or entity is waived and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that such data, information and reports are not to be used, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of a purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any pledge or other reporting to shareholders of any security, the securing, assignment, renewal, or extension of any loan by any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are received because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times for storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any sampling performed by PCL. A list of holding times will be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 hours or less (most nitrate, chlorine, pH, etc.) PCL in most cases cannot guarantee meeting a strict compliance. All short holding time 7 days. Samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before exact compliance of the holding times can be achieved. Direct Potable Water (DPW) samples or less (bacteria, etc.) Tests must be performed the same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late afternoon, weekend delivery of sample arrives are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. Lab hours and times are in effect as of the date of this agreement and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. The arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been noted on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" refers to these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule and any amendments or addendums thereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including all sampling services and fields, its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may submit requests by telephone, e-mail, chain of custody (COC) or PCL daily sample order (PSO). Any such order for the Client's acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of requesting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any quote or additional terms and conditions submitted by a client's documents shall be deemed to be only a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including provision of any equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of care reasonable in the profession where applicable. The analytical methodologies utilized are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) or Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to choose from above methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or characteristics of the samples provided or the data based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and/or the QA/QC policies. The entire liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or subcontractors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for such services. Client's execution of a work order and/or payment releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for assuring PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to reimbursement for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's purchase order and all subsequent orders for additional services, in either placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Except for certain materials provided by the client for use in client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or is the policy. Except as client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or in connection or breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of client's data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there will be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning methods of testing, software programs or other knowledge.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees, litigation expenses and costs, that are asserted against or incurred by any of them by reason of, arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or use of property and or 3. consequential loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing which results, damages, or losses are caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall not likely apply to claims, claims damages, actions, or suits which are initiated arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any intentional person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any remedy which may otherwise be implied by law and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the like or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any affiliated person or connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are set out in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, quotations or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule. A web document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.
The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.
The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express intent to be governed by these terms and conditions. Any contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the Terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of practice in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgment of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrix provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless made publicly available or publicly available by the public domain or client has paid to pay PCL for all services rendered up to the time of pursuit of the agreement subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses to protect its own confidential data and does not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data when such disclosure occurs in PCL reports and information provided hereunder or for the extent that the agreement specifically requires them shall be retained solely for the use, copies, data or information. Client will not use or any third party any information concerning test results from PCL, its employees or other consultants.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, costs, demands, causes of action, suits and claims of any nature including, without limitation, all court fees, litigation expenses, and lawyers' fees and costs arising in favor of client or any third party, as a result of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, injury, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property, and/or 3. financial loss of every kind or description. The client agrees to defend, indemnify any of the foregoing where costs, damages, or claims asserted solely by the grossly negligent or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, the indemnity shall specifically apply to client's damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligent or intentional conduct of any indemnified person, whether actively or passively, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will cover all loss to any liability which the client owes to any indemnified person and the other indemnified person. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage or be furnished by client, on demand, and shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption). Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and all pre-trial and judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any dispute against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or as otherwise provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or described as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (or other governing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operation or the date the services were rendered. Client's prices quoted and client confirmation in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or when a history of payment with the account has not been established with PCL. For clients and with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. Late payment penalties of at any applicable law may amount shown at the end of thirty (30) days subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law, one and one half percent (1.5%) per month or the maximum allowable. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees and expenses incurred in such collection whether or not suit is filed.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to these Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client's acting on such knowledge for its own account, or for the account or benefit of, or in any other representation to, or for any other person or entity, it is agreed and understood that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely upon any information or reports. Client represents and agrees that verbal data, information and reports are not requested, or that he does not rely upon such information without express part of the purchase price, understands, or discriminate all any services, any person or other reporting or the holders of any securities, the shareholders, creditors, or of customers of any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analytes with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without accepting a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been installed on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Use, including the price schedule, and any amendments or amendments to which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in rendering all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written e-mail or facsimile (FAX) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of accepting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No printed or additional terms and conditions appearing on a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other referenced methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the sample or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's Quality Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for the services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

9. Confidentiality

Except at the Client's direction or with the Client's prior consent, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or Client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. All reports and information prepared pursuant to the performance and benefit of Client and Client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning services, information, software, processes or QA/QC procedures.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, boycott or blockage of property and or 3. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or expenses caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to bodily claims, injuries, actions or examinations and character arising out of or connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any indemnified person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities is in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, Client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which may be that for the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption) litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or any pre-or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are duly defined, contained or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analytical bacterial analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of completion of the work the services were requested or with prices quoted and then confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients. Should a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL, for those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30 (calendar basis) 30 days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by law by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days, is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law of one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees incurred with such collection proceedings.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms of an effective as in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and the client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries; No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall not be used or relied upon, in connection with, or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, encumbrance, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be kept in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain) or client but filed or pay PCL for all services rendered or if otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unsanctioned disclosure of such data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereunder are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other information.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to attorneys' fees (the "Litigation Expenses") and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, i. injury, sickness or death of persons, ii. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property, or iii. financial loss of every kind or character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims (regardless of merit), suits and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or lack of judgment by any investigating person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extend necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption), Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and/or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis for microbiological analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of execution of the work the services were rendered or such prices as otherwise agreed upon, confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or upon analysis is considered is required for all new clients or until a history of subsequent smaller credits account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by or as set by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of the thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable court and attorney's fees or agency fees associated with such collection proceedings or actions.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is providing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times are met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria 30 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are liable to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been included on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accepted an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will not accept orders for services (as defined herein) except under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its affiliate of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's documents shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample matrix provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has told PCL that all services rendered is in reference to breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning proprietary information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and reasonable expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (including experts) and awards) arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, directly or any way accessory incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 2. injury, illness or death of persons 2. loss of, damage to, use of, or loss of use of property and or 3. ongoing loss of any kind or claim. The indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, suits, claims caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, demands, actions or suits, that are after arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any individual/person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client may otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent necessary, client shall additionally agree that all indemnity obligation will be supported by adequate liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation Expenses or other loss (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs and all pre and post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against the foregoing PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if advised of the possibility.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or classified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any similar or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and upon the completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bulk material analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment with no credit exposure has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amounts unpaid at the end of this thirty (30) day period subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to appeal from establishing such collection procedure or claim.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the Terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative. Except as to subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL assumes no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or reports furnished by PCL. Client is acting solely as principal for its own account and not as agent or trustee, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that neither party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not to be used, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or participation of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directors or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours (allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times (7 days), samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteriology tests) must be delivered this same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush charges and/or the inability to meet holding times. The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain, or client has cited to pay PCL for all services rendered or in otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by lawful legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided hereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way or arising incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have in PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law, in no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste or substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for asbestos bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or unless a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with established credit accounts, the terms for payment of charges are CASH unless thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted at all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying Rush surcharges. For short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at PCL within 24 hours before expiration to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed upon in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, submitting or sampling services, and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications of the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No boilerplate or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel perform the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided by client or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the Agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software, programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and costs (and attorneys expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials: 1. injury, illness or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and (in pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement, even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any official or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in Accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect on the date of quotations or the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law of one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such documents may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express agreement to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon receipt of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Water Board (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or other information, in the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancelation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether stated in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data, but shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of confidential information unless such disclosure was deliberate. PCL's reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, methods, processes or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client agrees to and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, all court fees (the foregoing, hereinafter, and even if resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of PCL), arising out of or resulting from: 1. any act or omission of client, its employees, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent, or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials; 2. bodily injury or death of persons; 3. loss of, damage to, misuse of, theft of or loss of property and/or 4. if any or loss of every kind of character. This indemnity shall apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or liability caused in whole or in part, regardless of whether such loss is the direct result of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall apply to any losses, claims, damages, actions of every kind and manner arising out of or in connection with the negligence or omissions of caused by any independent person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified persons. To the extent not otherwise limited by applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by a whole liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In the event that PCL or both its client's insurers, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and the cost of such personnel interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all specified analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of operations or the date the services were rendered or with prices otherwise agreed upon confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or credit analysis is completed is required for all new clients or where a history of payment and/or credit relation has not been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET 30/EOM unless otherwise agreed to in writing. Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or revised from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance to the extent of PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (ELAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL's reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims, charges, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence (or breach of contract) by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption. Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and for pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or unlike history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agents' fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliverys, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any variations or amendments to any which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling personnel and may authorize, subscribe, assign and represent them. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services as defined herein only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may order services by submitting a written, faxed or electronic (EDI) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the Client of PCL's offer to do business with Client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to constitute a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of performance in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (EPA), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL's standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client or third out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay in failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample material provided by the client at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence unless such information is generally available to the public or in the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered to it. Otherwise, in breach of the agreement, subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process, PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data while such data was disclosed. PCL reports and information provided shall be for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning testing performed, software, programs or other simulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, the litigation's investigation, awards arising in favor of client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or investigation, sampling, or detection of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, misuse of, or illegal use of property and/or 3. Financial loss of every kind or character. This provision does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or suits proximately caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, PCL expressly shall specifically apply to limit claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to, and not exclusive of, the indemnities that may have been given to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that no indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, with all insurance shall be solely primary and not contributing with any insurance maintained by PCL. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, or unrelated or consequential damages including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or any lost judgment interest, or any other expenses or claim incurred by client or any other party in any legal action or involving PCL or any Indemnified Person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analysis such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, beryllium or any other hazardous or toxic material, waste and substances which are declared, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for analysis for bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect at the time of quotation or the date services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in accordance with an alternative arrangement is required for all new clients or upon a review of payment and/or credit acceptable to PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms of payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoice. To the fullest extent permitted by law, any amount unpaid at the end of this thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agency fees established and such collection procedure or means.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective or binding and executed by an officer of PCL and Pat-Chem's authorized representatives, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is engaging services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not furnished, or shall be used or relied upon, in connection with or in regard to the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any security or other respecting to the payment of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advance. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded for some of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client as required. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-3 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (such as a 24 hour) must be delivered that same day to allow for guaranteed holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be assessed an additional fee.

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. An acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express agreed to be governed by these terms and conditions. No preprinted or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (CLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) for the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its affiliates, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the samples materials provided by clients or at client's request and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public with the public domain or client has failed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by lawful or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided thereto are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees (the Litigation Expenses) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way resulting incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials. 1. Injury, disease or death of persons 2. Loss of, damage to, loss of, or use of use of property and or 3. Financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption) Litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post-judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fee, or agents' fees associated with such collection proceedings or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective on in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by clients authorized representative, except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities. Any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 2-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 30 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule, and any additional terms or amendments to which we have agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives). "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The clients may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and condition and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the Client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No oral or any additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), CA Waterboard (LTLAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or compositions of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and /or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

Data and the sample materials provided by client or at client's request, and the results obtained by PCL shall be held in confidence (unless such information is generally available to the public or is the public domain or client has filed to pay PCL for all services rendered or is otherwise in breach of the agreement) subject to any disclosure required by law or legal process. PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unauthorized disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided shall only be for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees that there shall be no third party beneficiaries of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose to any third party any information concerning methods of analysis, software programs or other technical data.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to, attorneys fees (the Indemnified Parties) and awards, arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way connected, incident to, arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, or loss of use of property and/or 3. pollution or nuisance of every kind of character. The indemnities given must apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence or breach of contract by any Indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other Indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In the event that PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit, business interruption, litigation expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses of cost, incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or any services provided under this agreement, even if client or the prevailing party

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples / materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or hydrocarbonic wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of Client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portion of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all biological analysis client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were performed or with prior written and later confirmation in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance of when services is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment with prompt accounts has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, she terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted by at all by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of these 30 days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balance. Financial amounts are processed through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees to agents fees associated with such collection procedure or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information or interpretations by PCL. Client is retaining services hereunder for its own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants, and agrees that said data, information and reports are not intended, or shall be used to yield upon, in connection with or as part of the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, enhancement, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are received on weekends or after 3pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 24 days or less, samples must arrive within 96 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours. Detailed explanation to ensure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 24 hours or less (bacterial is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late deliveries, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been stated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the Price Schedule, and any additions or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who is to receive laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor to perform the all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement by the client to be bound by these terms and conditions.

The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's express assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No contrary or additional terms and conditions submitted in a client's document shall be deemed to become a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of workmanship in the profession. Where applicable, PCL will use analytical methodologies which are in substantial conformity with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), 40 CFR Water and (EGAP), American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC), Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater and/or other recognized methodologies. PCL reserves the right to deviate from these methodologies if necessary or appropriate due to the nature or composition of the samples or otherwise based on the reasonable judgement of PCL. Deviations, if any, will be made on a basis consistent with the recognized standards of the industry and/or PCL Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) and/or our QA/QC policies. The total liability of PCL, its officers, agents, employees or successors to the client, arising out of or in connection with the services to be provided herein, shall not exceed the invoiced amount for said services. Client's acceptance of a work order and/or proposal releases PCL from any liability in excess of the invoiced amount for the services notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary in any client purchase orders or contracts.

5. Clients Responsibility

Unless PCL personnel performs the sampling, the client shall be responsible for the condition which the samples are collected and for conditions in and about the sampling site and for advising PCL of the same and all information required to enable PCL to perform its services safely and efficiently.

6. Cancellation

Client may cancel any order for services hereunder subject to payment for all services rendered and out-of-pocket expenses incurred up to the date of cancellation in accordance with the applicable Price Schedule.

7. Overriding Agreement

The parties agree that the Terms shall govern performance of Client's initial order and all subsequent orders for additional services, whether placed in writing or verbally, except to the extent the Terms are modified in writing and executed by an authorized representative of both parties.

8. Force Majeure

PCL shall not be responsible for delay or failure to perform the services pursuant to this agreement due to causes beyond its control.

9. Confidentiality

PCL shall use the same standard of care it uses in protecting its own confidential data and shall not be responsible for unsatisfactory disclosure of said data where such standard was observed. PCL reports and information provided therein are for the exclusive use and benefit of client and client agrees there shall be no third party beneficiary of such reports, data or information. Client will not disclose any third party any information concerning technical information, software programs or other formulations.

10. Hold Harmless

Client releases and shall save, indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and associated expenses including, but not limited to all court fees, (the obligation if attorneys) and awards arising in favor of Client or any third party as a result of, and/or in any way occurring incident to arising out of, or in connection with the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or transportation, handling or disposal of client's hazardous materials, 1. injury, disease or death of persons, 2. loss of, damage to, loss of, or loss of use of property and or 3. financial loss of every kind of character. This indemnity does not apply to any of the foregoing losses, costs, damages, or injuries caused solely by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to losses, claims damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence of or breach of contract by any indemnified Person, whether actual or alleged, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnities will be in addition to any liability which the client might otherwise have to PCL and the other indemnified Persons. To the extent necessary under applicable law, client agrees that its indemnity obligation will be supported by available liability insurance coverage to be furnished by client, which insurance shall be in the maximum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to client for indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages (including, without limitation, loss of profit or business interruption, litigation Expenses or other fees (including, without limitation, attorney's fees, court costs, and /or pre or post judgment interest), or any other expenses or costs incurred by client or any other party in any litigation against or involving PCL or any indemnified person in connection with this agreement or all services provided under this agreement even if client is the prevailing party.

11. Hazardous Substances

For PCL to perform the services requested by client, client will provide and PCL will receive samples materials for analyses such as asbestos, polychlorinated biphenyls, bacteria or any other hazardous or toxic material, wastes and substances which are defined, determined or identified as such under federal, state or local laws, rules, PCL policies or regulations (whether now existing or hereafter enacted or promulgated) or any judicial or administrative interpretation of any thereof (the "Hazardous Materials"). Client understands and agrees that any hazardous material received by PCL from client or at client's request shall remain the property of client and that upon completion of PCL's services, PCL will dispose of all unused portions of samples as specified by client or by PCL's QA/QC policies. In the event the client does not specify its preferred method of disposal, PCL will return to the client all unused samples which contain Hazardous Materials. PCL reserves the right to charge the client for the disposal of unused samples in accordance with PCL's current sample disposal policy. In addition, all samples received by PCL for any/all bacterial analysis, client will be charged a sample disposal fee, per sample submitted, in accordance with our QA/QC policies and procedures.

12. Prices/Payments

Client shall pay PCL in accordance with PCL's applicable price schedule in effect in the area of operations on the date the services were rendered or with prices quoted and later confirmed in writing. The price schedule is subject to change at any time without notice. Payment in advance or when analysis is completed is required for all new clients or until a history of payment and/or credit account has been established with PCL. For those clients with an established credit account, the terms for payment of charges are NET CASH within thirty (30) days from date of invoices. To the fullest extent permitted (if at all) by applicable law, any amount unpaid at the end of thirty (30) days is subject to interest at the lesser of the maximum rate permitted by law or one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month on the unpaid balances. If unpaid amounts are collected through legal proceedings or by an attorney, the client shall pay reasonable costs and attorney's fees or agent's fees associated with such collection procedures or efforts.

13. Agreement Modification

Changes, modifications or amendments to the terms shall be effective only in writing and executed by an officer of PCL and by client's authorized representative. Except that subsequent orders for additional services may be verbal or in writing.

14. No Third Party Beneficiaries: No Right of Reliance

PCL shall have no responsibility or liability for client's use of or reliance on data, information, or reports furnished by PCL. Client is securing services hereunder for his own account, and not as agent or broker, or in any other representative capacity for any other person or entity. It is agreed and acknowledged that there are no third party beneficiaries to this agreement, and that no third party may rely on such data, information or reports. Client represents, warrants and agrees that said data, information and reports are not requested, or shall be used to relied upon, in connection with or as part of, the purchase, sale, underwriting, or distribution of any securities, any periodic or other reporting to the holders of any security, the securing, amendment, renewal, or extension of any loan from any financial institution or other lender or the certification to or contracting with, directly or indirectly, any governmental agency or department.

15. Rush Analysis

Rush analyses are available for an additional charge and must be arranged in advanced. If, for any unforeseen reason, the rush turnaround time cannot be met, the normal price will apply.

16. Holding Times

PCL cannot be responsible for holding times that are exceeded because of samples that are delivered on weekends or after 2pm on weekdays without prior notification and acceptance. Standard holding times and storage conditions should be reviewed prior to any samples being received by PCL. A list of holding times can be provided to the client if requested. All analyses with holding times of 14 days or less, samples must arrive within 36 hours to allow PCL to meet holding times without applying a rush surcharge. All short holding times, 3-7 days, samples must arrive at the lab within 24 hours before expiration to insure that the holding times can be met. Short Holding Times of 48 hours or less (bacteria is 6 hours) must be delivered that same day in order to guarantee holding times are met. After hours, late delivery, freight company delays or similar issues are subject to additional rush fees and/or the inability to meet holding times. All holding times are in effect as of the publication date of this fee schedule and are subject to change without notice.

17. Sample Retention

All samples are retained for at least thirty (30) days after analysis has been completed. Sample storage for longer periods is by request only. Pre-arranged long term storage is subject to an additional charge. Samples will be discarded at the end of the pre-arranged storage time.

18. Sample Pick Up/Field Tech Sampling

All pick up/sampling fees have been notated on the fee schedule. Reasonable time has been allocated for each pick up or service. Unnecessary delays during the pick up or sampling, might be accessed an additional fee.

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these Terms and Conditions of Sale, including the price schedule, and any additions or amendments to which we agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, including all services, services and Price Actions, and includes its agents and representatives. "Price Schedule" means PCL's Client Solutions or PCL standard price schedule, as such documents may be amended or replaced from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for work on its defined terms only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall apply if PCL and the Client have executed a separate agreement covering all matters relating to the Services, or if no such agreement has been executed. A quotation or proposal is valid and binding only if it is in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the Client and PCL.

The Client may place an order by submitting a written order or request to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance of the Terms and 2. PCL's offer to do business with the Client under the Terms and Conditions and 3. an agreement to be bound by these Terms and Conditions. The Client's delivery of samples to PCL or its delivery of consulting services shall constitute the Client's consent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No terms or additional terms and conditions proposed by a Client's purchase order or document or including a part of the order, or which are inconsistent with the Terms and Conditions.

For purposes of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the Client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability

PCL will perform the services in accordance with the normal standards of the profession in the particular locality where PCL will be conducting the investigation, which is a reasonable standard for such the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), EA Waterboard (PCAB), American Centers for Testing and Materials (ASTM), Association of Official Analytical Chemists (AOAC). Standard Methods (SM) of the Examination of Water and Wastewater, or other recognized organizations. PCL makes no warranty or guarantee, express or implied, and disclaims any warranty or guarantee as to the future safety or suitability for any purpose of any property or premises owned, leased or controlled by the Client or others. Any opinions rendered by PCL with respect to compliance with laws, rules, regulations, standards or guidelines are based on the reasonable judgment of PCL personnel at the time the opinions are rendered. Because laws, rules, regulations, standards and guidelines are subject to frequent change and because reasonable persons may differ in their interpretation and application, PCL cannot and does not warrant or guarantee that a governmental agency will not take a position contrary to any opinion rendered by PCL personnel.

PCL's liability for any claim, loss or damage arising out of or in connection with this agreement or the services, whether in contract, tort (including negligence), strict liability or otherwise, shall not exceed the total amount paid by Client to PCL for the services giving rise to the claim. In no event shall PCL be liable for any consequential, incidental, special, punitive or exemplary damages, including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, however caused or under any theory of liability, even if PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages. The limitations in this section apply to the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, and in no event shall PCL's aggregate liability exceed the amount of insurance proceeds actually paid to Client under PCL's insurance policies in connection with the claim, regardless of whether such insurance coverage is adequate to cover the loss. Client acknowledges that PCL's fees reflect the allocation of risk set forth in this agreement and that PCL would not enter into this agreement without these limitations.

Client agrees to indemnify, defend and hold PCL, its employees, officers, directors, agents, affiliates, subsidiaries and parent harmless from and against any and all liabilities, losses or damages, claims, demands, causes of action, suits and expenses (including, but not limited to, attorneys' fees) that may be asserted by any third party as a result of, arising out of or in any way connected with, directly or indirectly, in whole or in part, the performance of services by PCL pursuant to this agreement and/or the provision of data, information or reports to Client or to any third party, including, but not limited to, claims for property damage, personal injury or death of any kind, and regardless of the cause of action, whether based in contract, tort, strict liability or otherwise, except to the extent such liability is finally determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to have been caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence, gross negligence or willful misconduct of the indemnified Parties, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnity shall survive the termination of this agreement. Client's indemnity obligations shall not apply to the extent that the loss, damage or liability is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Client's indemnity obligations shall specifically apply to claims, damages, actions of every kind and character arising out of or in connection with the negligence, gross negligence or willful misconduct of the indemnified Parties, whether active or passive, in the performance of services under this agreement. The foregoing indemnity shall survive the termination of this agreement. To the extent indemnification is not prohibited by applicable law, Client agrees that it will be responsible for all liability, loss and claim coverage to be furnished by Client, which insurance shall be in the minimum amounts permitted under applicable law. In no event shall PCL be liable to Client for any indirect, punitive, special, incidental or consequential damages, including, without limitation, loss of profits or business interruption, however caused or under any theory of liability, even if PCL has been advised of the possibility of such damages. Client's indemnity obligations shall not apply to the extent that the loss, damage or liability is caused by the gross negligence or willful misconduct of PCL or its employees. Further, this indemnity

Rev 2 Effective 5/1/17

Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) Terms and Conditions

1. Definitions

"Terms and Conditions" means these terms and conditions of sale, including the price schedule and any addenda or amendments hereto which are agreed to in writing. "Client" means the individual or entity who may request laboratory services, consulting or sampling services and his or its heirs, successors, assigns and representatives. "Price Schedule" means Pat-Chem Laboratories (PCL) standard price schedule as such document may be amended or reissued from time to time by PCL.

2. Independent Contractor

PCL acts solely as an independent contractor in performing all services.

3. Orders and Acceptance

PCL offers and will accept orders for services (as defined herein) only under the following General Terms and Conditions (the "Terms"). These Terms shall not apply if PCL and the Client shall have executed a separate agreement in writing which does not incorporate the Terms. No modifications to the Terms shall be valid and binding unless in writing and signed by an authorized representative of the client and PCL.

The client may order services by submitting a written chain of custody (COC) to PCL. Any such order constitutes 1. an acceptance by the client of PCL's offer to do business with the client under the terms and conditions and 2. an agreement to be bound by these terms and conditions. The client's delivery of samples to PCL or initiation of consulting services constitutes the client's explicit assent to be governed by these terms and conditions. No conflicting or additional terms and conditions expressed in a client's purchase order shall be deemed to be only a part of the contract created upon acceptance of the terms and conditions.

For purpose of this agreement, "Services" shall mean all work to be performed for the client, including provision of all equipment and materials to be furnished by PCL.

4. Limit of Liability
